RUSSIA GIVEN TRUMAN BID

President Invites Sovet and Argentina To Join UN Agriculture Group.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—President Truman suggested yesterday that the United States and Russia would find it easier to discuss their differences if Russia joined the United Nations food and agriculture organization.

Addressing the fourth annual meeting of the FAO, Mr. Truman said:

"I think that if we could discuss with the Russians our mutual interest in agriculture, it would not be so difficult to discuss our differences in other fields. It is most heartening that several eastern European nations are members of FAO. I hope this will continue to be true."

He invited both Russia and Argentina to join the FAO. He said:

"I hope that every country, old or new, will become a member of the food and agriculture organization. I should like to see that large agricultural country, Argentina, become a member. I wish that the Soviet Union would also join."

Promises New Proposal

Mr. Truman also pledged to the delegates of the 58 FAO member nations that he will send to the new U. S. congress a new international wheat agreement if one can be negotiated.

"Moreover," he said, "I look to the general pattern of the wheat agreement as one which might be followed for other commodities."

He said that "hunger has no nationality. Abundance should have none, either."

"One of the ways to restore stability to the world is to produce plenty of food and see that it is distributed fairly," he added.

Mr. Truman said it is appropriate that the U. S. is host to a United Nations meeting during "our cherished Thanksgiving holiday."

He said the real spirit of this holiday is the sharing of the harvest. This spirit, he said, has brought many nations together in the FAO.

One of the first and most difficult problems is the rebuilding of nations which suffered heavily during the war, Mr. Truman continued, adding:

"We are making a great deal of headway through the combined efforts of many nations in the European recovery program."

He promised that the U. S. will continue to send its experts in the field of agricultural improvement wherever the FAO believes they are needed.

He said making agriculture credit available to farmers is a keystone of the U. S. farm program.

He said this country has hopes for the role the International Bank can play in building up agricultural resources in undeveloped countries. But there is a job, too, "for private lenders and cooperatives," the President said.

Truman Plans To Spend Day at Work

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—President Truman will spend today working at his desk. Then he will eat some Thanksgiving turkey.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the President's staff will take a holiday tomorrow but that Mr. Truman will pass much of the day at his desk signing correspondence and official documents. He will have Thanksgiving dinner with his family at his temporary quarters at the Blair House, across from the White House.

Ross said Mr. Truman has no plans to attend church or to receive any visitors.

17. Victory in Normandy.

AS THE enemy saw the American First Army attack gather momentum to the southward and finally break through the Avranches bottleneck, his reaction was swift and characteristic. Chained to his general position by Hitler's orders as well as by the paralyzing action of our air forces, he immediately moved westward all available armor and reserves from the Caen area to counterattack against the narrow strip through which American forces were pouring deep into his rear. His attack, if successful, would cut in behind our breakout troops and place them in a serious position.

Bradley and I, aware that the German counterattack was under preparation, carefully surveyed the situation. We had sufficient strength in the immediate area so that if we chose merely to stand on the defensive against the German attack he could not possibly gain an inch. However, to make absolutely certain of our defenses at Mortain, we would have to diminish the number of divisions we could hurl into the enemy's rear and so sacrifice our opportunity to achieve the complete destruction for which we hoped.

* * *

MOREOVER, by this time the weather had taken a very definite turn for the better and we had in our possession an Air Transport Service that could deliver, if called upon, up to 2,000 tons of supplies per day in fields designated by any of our forces that might be temporarily cut off.

When I assured Bradley that even under a temporary German success he would have this kind of supply support, he unhesitatingly determined to retain only minimum forces at Mortain, and to rush the others on south and east to begin an envelopment of the German spearheads. I was in his headquarters when he called Montgomery on the telephone to explain his plan, and although the latter expressed a degree of concern about the Mortain position, he agreed that the prospective prize was great and left the entire responsibility for the matter in Bradley's hands.

Bradley's judgment as to his ability to hold the Mortain hinge was amply demonstrated by events, but the whole situation is yet another example of the type of delicate decision that a field commander is frequently called upon to make in war. Had the German tanks and infantry succeeded in breaking through at Mortain, the predicament of all troops beyond that point would have been serious, in spite of our ability partially to supply them by airplane.

The enveloping movement from the south had as its first objective the destruction or capture of the German forces in the Mortain-Falaise region, while at the same time there remained the opportunity for sweeping up remaining portions of the German First and Seventh Armies by directing an even wider employment toward the crossings of the Seine River.

The Germans were still fighting desperately just south of Caen, where by this time they had established the strongest defenses encountered throughout the entire campaign. The Canadians threw in fierce and sustained attacks but it was not until August 16 that Falaise was finally captured. Caen, by then a heap of rubble, had been captured on July 9.

* * *

WITH THE GREAT BULK of all the Allied forces attacking from the perimeter of a great half-circle toward a common center, the determination of the exact points on which each element should halt, in order not to become involved against friendly units coming from the opposite direction, was a tricky problem.

I was in Bradley's headquarters when messages began to arrive from commanders of the advancing American columns complaining that the limits placed upon them by their orders were allowing Germans to escape. I completely supported Bradley in his decision that it was necessary to obey the orders, prescribing the boundary between the army groups, exactly as written, otherwise a calamitous battle between friends could have resulted.

BURTON'S GAIN SLIPS TO 16 IN RECOUNT

15 Precincts in County Yet To Be Checked.

When election board members recessed until Saturday the recount of returns of the election for county treasurer at the end of its second day forty out of fifty-five precincts had been recounted giving Democrat Robert G. Burton a net gain of 16 votes.

This total was six less votes net gain over what Burton had received at the end of 26 precincts in the recount when he showed a net gain of 22 votes. Additional votes for Republican incumbent Marion E. Hinklin turned up in the recount between the twenty-sixth and fortieth precincts, thereby reducing Burton's net gain.

Board Clerk Kenneth Fields said when the recount was recessed late yesterday all 20 Marion city precincts had been counted and ten county precincts.

With fifteen county precincts remaining to be checked Mr.

Marion Stores Prepare For Early Shoppers As Holiday Season Nears

* * *

'Twas the month before Christmas
And all through the stores
There were oodles of bargains
And gift-buys galore.

The wise early shoppers were laughing aloud
As they made their selections ahead of the crowd
In no time at all they had finished the chore
And spirits still high, swept out of the door.

. . . The moral? Be early and happy and wise!
The service is better—and so are the buys.

* * *

By EDNA S. DUTTON

THIS is the theme song of today's shopper as Marion stores prepare to open their doors tomorrow for the official launching of the 1948 Christmas season of gift buying.

Weeks of preparation and careful selection on the part of buyers have resulted in a vast selection of gifts which are not only practical but a delight to the eye. There is not only quality but quantity, color for those who would be gay and the more subdued tones for those who prefer them, an array of gift suggestions that leaves nothing to be desired in the way of selection and choice. There are gifts for him, for her, for father, mother, sister, brother and the entire family.

If those who have looked into the crystal ball for this year's Christmas shopping have read aright, the 1948 shopper has an eye on the practical. This doesn't mean that there aren't myriads of gifts, aside from the "musts" of clothing, household needs or other furbishings, to be found on the shopping list; there are lovelies for the teen-age girl and her elders, long wished-for accessories for the male members of the household and toys and gadgets galore for the tiny tots and juniors.

STOCKS ARE PLENTIFUL, values are high and prices for the most part are on a par with last holiday season. Shoppers are heeding the "shop early" slogan and already there are stacks of toys and other interesting looking packages ready and waiting for the Christmas delivery.

The toy departments are pictures of fairyland with what can't help but be the answer to every child's Christmas wish. For the boy who would be a farmer, a garage mechanic, an engineer or follow some other "business like dad," there is to be found equipment in miniature to afford work plus entertainment for days and weeks to come; and what little miss wouldn't be starry-eyed over the doll counters and the aisles lined with baby carriages to say nothing of the up-to-date household equipment such as room suites, kitchen furnishings from the last word in refrigeration to pots and pans. Bride dolls are glamorous in their satin and veils and equally as popular are the "coo" babies, with what seems to be natural skin and sleepy eyes.

For the teen-age girl there are cozy slippers, sweaters and head scarfs galore, plus gloves in the gayest of weaves and colors. Her slightly older sister will find dreams come true in one of the smart formals for holiday dancing, or at the cosmetic and perfume bar. And the comfy robe in the de luxe [illegible] will offer some serious thinking in making a choice.

THE VERY YOUNG men in the family would do anything less than swagger in one of the flashy sweaters piled high in cases, and caps are just as gay. Leather coats are warm and comfortable and gloves and mittens may be listed in the same bracket. The head of the household can blot out the memory of the days when a white shirt was just a memory—white shirts, together with an attractive array of colored ones are to be had a-plenty. Neckties are gay and run to large patterns, scarves are to be had in plain and designs, and keeping up with the parade are the sox in myriads of colors and combinations.

And just by way of suggestions how about one of the new nylon slips or half slips; a battery run train (new on the shelves) which eliminates the possibility of shock to one of the very young members of the family, glamorous lingerie—and by the way the cozy but unglamorous outing nightgown has come into its own with a be-ruffled yoke and sleeves, hankies plain or embellished, purses; aprons in bright colors and clever styles, mittens and chenille robes for baby's first Christmas, dresses with panties to match; taffeta and velvet frocks for the three-year-old; hose, jewel boxes; costume jewelry; luggage for travel at home and abroad; sleds; "books; games; sturdy wagons; house slippers; blankets; chairs; tables; electrical equipment such as toasters, clocks, mixers and hundreds of other articles to whet the buying appetite.

It all adds up to Christmas—a time for a warm smile, a cheerful greeting, a hearty handshake—a time to experience the joyous thrill of giving and receiving.

Yule Gifts Listed By Marion Stores

Marion stores, gaily decorated in Christmas scenes and with shelves teeming with gift selections, will officially launch the 1948 Christmas gift season tomorrow.

Today's issue of The Star carries advertisements of Christmas gift suggestions all of which are to be found in Marion stores. Shelves and cases are stocked with attractive and useful gifts for the official opening of the Christmas buying season tomorrow.

Merchandise is varied and sharing the counters with always in demand gifts to be found in new styles and materials are the last word in glamour and streamlining.

Auto Crash Fails To Halt Wedding of Couple Here

A West Side Marion girl and her fiance were married last night despite a narrow escape from death Tuesday night in an auto accident while enroute here for their wedding.

The bride, Miss Martha Mount, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Mount of 168 Edwards street, and her fiance, George H. Corwin, 22, of Lemoyne, O., were enroute to Marion from Toledo Tuesday night. A car driven by Miss Rose Niesat of Ottoville pulled in front of Corwin's car from a side road into route 199 three miles north of Rising Sun, and a collision resulted.

Rev. Fr. Gerevert, pastor of Immaculate Conception Catholic church at Ottoville, a passenger in the car driven by Miss Niesat, escaped injury in the crash.

Miss Mount received severe bruises of the lower ribs and stomach in the crash. She was, however, able to return to Corwin's parents' home at Lemoyne from which the couple arranged to continue their journey to Marion by train.

The couple were married at 7 p. m. last night at the Wesleyan Methodist church on Silver street with the Rev. Eldon Martin, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride said last night they would start housekeeping this weekend in a trailer in Toledo. "We'll have to postpone our honeymoon trip until George's car is repaired," she said. Corwin is employed as an electrician's helper in Toledo.

SHIP'S PASSENGERS ON 'SIT IN' STRIKE

By The Associated Press

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 25—Cabin and tourist passengers on the strike-bound luxury liner Queen Elizabeth decided last night on a "sit in" strike in defiance of a decision by the ship's owners to put them ashore Friday.

Approximately 900 passengers voted for the "sit in" at a mass meeting.

A spokesman said they took the action "because of the precarious condition, financial and otherwise, of some of the passengers."

They said they hope to persuade first class passengers to join them.

Earlier, the Cunard White Star line notified the 1,500 strike-bound passengers to disembark.

THIS IS THE DAY WE GIVE THANKS. Yes, but not so with Mr. Turkey, for a reason plainly evident in the picture above. It was taken as two-year-old Jeffrey Ludwig threatened with an axe the fine bird which later was reduced to white and dark meat for today's feast at Jeffrey's home in Columbus. That's four-year-old brother Mike holding their prospective Thanksgiving dinner in a firm grip.

CIO OBSERVES SHORT TRUCE

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25—Right and left wings observed a temporary truce at the CIO convention yesterday to acclaim a "history-making" speech by Justice William O. Douglas of the U. S. supreme court.

President Philip Murray of the CIO not only termed it historic, but asserted "its effect will be felt through the land."

The truce was short-lived. The right vs. left struggle resumed this time on whether union officers should be bound by dictates of the convention.

In the speech Douglas traced the rise of the labor movement, discussed present-day economic problems and concluded:

"Today labor, better than any other element in our society, can weld the democrats of the world into a group within its power to guide western civilization, neither to the right nor to the left, but down the broad middle highway to abundance, to security, and to peace."

New Peak of Strength

He told the delegates labor had reached a new peak of strength, but warned that Communists were trying to infiltrate and that "totalitarians of the right" were attempting to destroy the movement.

He said the Communists "miss the point of history when they make class warfare the challenge of this age . . . The challenge is to make the modern industrial plant operate smoothly and productively for the benefit of all."

American labor may help this country reach an understanding with labor governments rising in Europe, he said, adding that diplomats lack an understanding of the labor struggle.

American labor also can help the Americans understand that "these labor governments of Europe are not to be scorned or feared" and help the Europeans to understand "that the Communists are wrong in teaching that the fate of man is to pit class against class in a series of great blood-lettings," the jurist said.

Revolution Started Fight

The wrangling over CIO policy started over a resolution declaring against a third party.

Once against the right began implying that those of the left were Communist-dominated.

Then arose Albert J. Fitzgerald, president of the United Electrical Workers.

"You are smearing us with a Red brush," shouted the man who was chairman of the Progressive party convention in Philadelphia last July.

"We are told to 'toe the line or get out.' I don't think you really mean that . . . I won't sacrifice my rights . . . No man is ever going to prevent me from exercising my rights as a citizen," Fitzgerald continued.

Later Fitzgerald shouted:

"I don't give a damn for Russia. I think Vishinsky and Molotov have engaged in saber-rattling."

This followed by a day Murray's challenge to the Wallace supporters to criticize Russia "for once" and become accepted as "free thinkers."

Vessel and 37 Crewmen Lost

Hope Abandoned for British Freighter in Stormy North Atlantic.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—The stormy north Atlantic apparently has claimed the British freighter Hopestar and its crew of 37.

The Coast Guard said today it has abandoned hope for the 5,287-ton vessel, believed to have foundered on the night of Nov. 14 while battling a severe Atlantic gale 600 miles east of New York.

The ship was believed to have turned over and sunk rapidly, precluding an SOS, after being damaged.

An intensive two-day plane and ship search of the area failed to reveal any sign of the ship or its survivors.

Capt. W. R. Richards, chief of staff off the Coast Guard eastern area, said:

"While an aerial search is still being carried on we feel that there is little possibility that any survivors are left alive."

The ship, bound from Newcastle, England, to Philadelphia, carrying only ballast, radioed Nov. 14 that she had suffered "heavy weather damage" and expected to reach Cape Henlopen, N. J., Nov. 17 for repairs. Her radio was silent after that.

The weather bureau reported heavy seas whipped up by winds of 60-70 miles an hour plagued the area the ship reported from.

All day long this message came from 10 Canadian and American planes scouring the ruffled ocean: "Continuing search. Negative."

The 12-year-old vessel, equipped with the latest lifeboats and rafts, was bound for Philadelphia to load grain. Her American agents, J. H. Winchester & Company, did not report her plight until Monday night, the Coast Guard said, and the search did not begin until Tuesday morning. Unfavorable flying weather handicapped the planes.

SEPARATED FAMILY FINDS NEW HOME

Nine To Be Reunited for Late Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving, a day when boys and girls, men and women bridge miles by train, bus, motor or plane to gather round the family table, is just another day to the Marion family of nine, separated more than a week ago because of the local housing shortage. The five boys are still at the Children's home, the little girl at the home of a relative, the baby, aged two years is in a boarding home, the mother is at the home of a friend, and the father is at the YMCA.

But there is a ray of hope for the family, they do have a house and will be together early next week. This, it goes without saying, has brightened the picture for everyone. The mother has written to the boys at the home—where they are so very, very homesick — and told them the good news.

The home will be only temporary as the house is slated to be razed at some future date, but

GOVERNMENT HEADS STUDY PLAN OF ACTION

Marshall Makes Statement After China Again Appeals for Help in Crisis.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—Secretary of State Marshall yesterday said the government is considering what it can properly do to be of real assistance in the Chinese government's present crisis.

He made that statement to a news conference after Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo had visited the White House earlier in the day and appealed to President Truman again for American moral and material aid for China.

Talking with reporters, Marshall also:

▶Left entirely in doubt the question of whether he would remain much longer as secretary of state. He simply refused any comment on that point.

▶Declared that the United States has told France it is willing to consider new security measures against revival of German war might and, despite France's objections, this government and Britain are going ahead with a plan for placing Ruhr industries under German management.

▶Announced that the United States has protested to Egypt against seizure of the rice and tractor cargo of the American vessel, Flying Trader.

▶Commented that he believes the United Nations meeting in Paris has wiped out the vagueness in the minds of many other governments about who is responsible for the present frustration of efforts to solve important world problems—such as the Berlin crisis.

No Decision Indicated

What Marshall said about China indicated that no overall decision has been made on the American response to Chiang Kai Shek's appeals for help.

This government must have clearly in mind, Marshall said, the terms under which it can act. That, he continued, relates to the problem of getting legislation through congress, the availability of military supplies, and the involvement of the United States which might result in China and which already are in effect in various parts of the world."

Koo Voices "Encouragement"

Koo said he was "encouraged" in his hope for greater American aid for China by his talk with Mr. Truman.

The President, Koo told reporters, is "very well informed about the situation, and has shown a most sympathetic view."

The envoy conferred with the President about two hours after Mr. Truman held his second foreign policy conference of the week with Secretary Marshall.

Koo called on the President at his own request. To reporters who met him as he left the White House executive office, he declared that he had emphasized "the urgency of the need, the gravity of the situation" created in China by Communist successes against the nationalist forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

This was the third time in recent weeks that China had appealed for aid. Previously Chiang had written directly to President Truman and Koo had made a personal plea to top state department officials.

Both of those developments came before Secretary of State Marshall returned from the Paris United Nations meeting on Monday. Since his return, the government is believed to have made considerable progress in its study of the Chinese crisis but prior to his news conference there was no indication of the position it might finally take.

Leaves Statement to President

Koo was asked whether the President replied to his appeal today but said that was up to the White House to answer. He reported that in his talk with the President he had stressed the bearing which the Chinese situation, in view of this government, has upon "the general course of freedom and democracy in the world."

There were two other developments in the China aid picture:

The economic cooperation administration announced approval of shipment of $22,000,000 worth of oil from Saudi Arabia to China.

The state department reported that the Chinese government had spent about $2,500,000 for arms purchases in the United States in the last two weeks. This raised to a total of $113,079,900 the funds paid out by the American government under the $125,000,000 Chinese military aid program voted by congress last session.

REFUSES PAY TO LIQUOR MAN

Ferguson Takes Leis Off Payroll, Charging Violation of Law.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O Nov 25 — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson yesterday said he had taken from the payroll Simon L Leis of Cincinnati a member of the state board of liquor control

Ferguson said he took the action because Leis was in violation of the state law which says a member of the liquor control board shall devote his entire time to his duties or shall hold no other public office of trust or profit.

The state auditor said Leis was attorney for Mrs. Mary Clay Watts of Norwood, recently acquitted of charges of murdering her 11-year-old daughter

Ferguson said "It will be up to the governor to remove Leis or appoint another Republican member to fill his unexpired term on the liquor board

Expects Fight.

"I expect Leis will attempt to fight my action in removing him from the state payroll and he can carry the case to the supreme court if he wants to, but he will not receive any pay from the state of Ohio

"The law in this instance is clear and as an attorney Mr. Leis should know it"

The state auditor said he understood Leis had received a leave of absence without pay from Walter Mitchell, another member of the board.

He said Mitchell had no authority to grant such a leave

Ferguson said the liquor board had requested this week that Leis be restored to the payroll.

He added there was "considerable doubt" whether actions taken by the liquor board since Leis' returning, "after vacating his post," are legal.

Leis' salary is $6,000 a year.

Appointed in 1947.

Leis was appointed to the state board of liquor control July 1, 1947, and the appointment was confirmed by the state senate. The appointment expires the first Monday in February, 1951.

In Cincinnati, Leis told a newsman:

"I was not in violation of any state law. The state law says 'any other public office.' In acting for Mrs. Watts, I was not holding a public office but was in private employment.

"Furthermore, I had obtained a leave of absence from Walter Mitchell (Youngstown), chairman of the board. I expect to return to work Monday."

Governor Thomas J. Herbert accepted Ferguson's announcement with a shrug:

"Little Joe's frothing never disturbs me," said the governor. "Just because he says so is no reason I should take it that way.

"As far as I am concerned there is no vacancy (in the board of liquor control). Just because Joe stops his (Leis) pay is no reason to believe there is a vacancy.

"Apparently Leis is to be penalized for his forthrightness in seeking a leave of absence while he was engaged in Cincinnati."

State liquor director Dale Dunlfon told newsmen Leis' request for leave of absence had been approved by the other three members of the board.

DEFENDS OUSTER OF HOSPITAL ARCHITECT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 25 —State architect Harry G. Allen yesterday defended the action of public works director George B. Sowers in firing Joseph A. Gattozzi as architect for the new $3,300,000 Apple Creek state hospital

Gattozzi, who disclosed his ouster Tuesday night, claimed he was fired because he insisted the contractor meet specifications and give the state full value He pledged a "fight to the finish" to hold the job

Allen denied all Gattozzi's charges.

"We are not in the business of letting contractors get away with anything on these jobs not in performance of their contracts," Allen said.

RECOUNT

Fields said the recount would be continued Saturday morning unless Burton decides to halt it "It's all up to Mr. Burton" Fields said "He can order the recount halted at anytime He has not done so as yet, however, so as things now stand we will begin again Saturday morning"

Mr Burton asked for a check of all fifty-five precincts in an effort to capture enough votes to wipe out the 214—vote margin by which Mr. Hinkin was returned to office for a third term

RUSSIA "EXPOSES" U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. — Moscow told the rest of the world on the eve of Thanksgiving that Americans have little to be thankful for. Radio broadcasts recorded yesterday by government monitors pictured life in the United States as pretty grim — especially for the American "peasants." These were identified as about one and one-half million farmers who were said to be seeking jobs because "rich usurpers" have gradually seized lands of small owners.

VENEZUELAN ARMY TAKES OVER STATE

By The Associated Press

CARACAS, VENEZUELA Nov 25 Troops occupied all public buildings at noon yesterday without the firing of a shot and Lt Col. Marcos Perez Jimenez announced the army was in general control of the nation

Perez Jimenez, chief of army staff, said the army had taken over because of the "incapacity" of President Romulo Gallegos and because "extremist" labor unions were threatening a general strike in support of the president

Gallegos, who took office only last February as the nation's first president elected by a direct vote of the people, was at his home under protection of the army The whereabouts of other political leaders was unknown

Rev. Holdridge Plans Series of Services

A series of four services in keeping with the Advent season beginning with Sunday, Nov 26, has been arranged by Rev. Hiram B. Holdridge for his Magnetic Springs-Pharisburg charge The general theme for the meetings will be "Christmas—God's Hope to a Despairing World"

The four sermons in the series will be as follows. "God's Blessing on the Home," Nov. 26; "God's Faith in Ordinary Folks," Dec. 5; "God's Power to Those Afraid," Dec. 12; and "God's Promise of Peace," Dec. 19.

The series will be based on the Christmas story found in the book of Luke. The outstanding purpose of the sermons is to enable the people to see Christmas and the Christmas season as related to God—to see it as God's gift to man, rather than a season of self-centeredness, hurry and worry.

CRUSADE IN EUROPE

In the face of complete disaster the enemy fought desperately to hold open the mouth of the closing pocket so as to save as much as he could from the debacle. German commanders concentrated particularly on saving armored elements, and while a disappointing portion of their Panzer divisions did get back across the Seine, they did so at the cost of a great proportion of their equipment. Eight infantry divisions were captured almost in their entirety

The battlefield at Falaise was unquestionably one of the greatest "killing grounds" of any of the war areas. Roads, highways, and fields were so choked with destroyed equipment and with dead men and animals that passage through the area was extremely difficult.

• • •

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS after the closing of the gap I was conducted through it on foot, to encounter scenes that could be described only by Dante. It was literally possible to walk for hundreds of yards at a time, stepping on nothing but dead and decaying flesh.

In the wider sweep directed against the crossings of the Seine behind the German Army, the rapidly advancing Americans were also forced to halt to avoid overrunning their objectives and firing into friendly troops. The German again seized the opportunity to escape with a greater portion of his strength than would have been the case if the exact situation could have been completely foreseen

"While the bulk of Bradley's forces was engaged in these great battles and overrunning France toward Paris, General Middleton's VIII Corps turned back to the westward to overrun the Brittany Peninsula and to capture the ports in that area We were still of the belief that some use would have to be made of Quiberon Bay and possibly of Brest Middleton was directed to capture these places as quickly as possible

Brest fell on September 19 The harbor and its facilities had been so completely wrecked by our bombing and by German demolitions that we never made any attempt to use it.

When the Allied armies finally completed their envelopment of the German forces west of the Seine the evening defeat of the German in western Europe was a certainty The question of time alone remained

Our new situation brought up one of the longest-sustained arguments that I had with Prime Minister Churchill throughout the period of the war. This argument, beginning almost coincidentally with the break-through in late July, lasted throughout the first ten days of August. One session lasted several hours. The discussions involved the wisdom of going ahead with Anvil, by then renamed Dragoon, the code name for operation that was to bring in General Devers' forces through the south of France.

• • •

ONE OF THE EARLY reasons for planning this attack was to achieve an additional port of entry through which the reinforcing divisions already prepared in America could pour rapidly into the European invasion. The Prime Minister held that we were now assured of early use of the Brittany ports and that the troops then in the Mediterranean could be brought in via Brittany, or even might better be used in the prosecution of the Italian campaign with the eventual purpose of invading the Balkans via the head of the Adriatic.

To any such change I was opposed, and since the United States Chiefs of Staff, following their usual practice, declined to interfere with the conclusions of the commander in the field, I instantly became the individual against whom the Prime Minister directed all his argument

Although I never heard him say so, I felt that the Prime Minister's real concern was possibly of a political rather than a military nature. He may have thought that a postwar situation which would see the Western Allies posted in great strength in the Balkans would be far more effective in producing a stable post-hostilities world than if the Russian armies should be the ones to occupy that region I told him that if this were his reason for advocating the campaign into the Balkans he should go instantly to the President and lay the facts, as well as his own conclusions, on the table But I did insist that as long as he argued the matter on military grounds alone I could not concede validity to his arguments

As usual the Prime Minister pursued the argument up to the very moment of execution As usual, also, the second that he saw he could not gain his own way, he threw everything he had into support of the operation He flew to the Mediterranean to witness the attack and I heard that he was actually on a destroyed to observe the supporting bombardment when the attack went in.

• • •

IN THIS LONG and serious argument the Prime Minister was supported by certain members of his staff On the other hand, British officers assigned to my own headquarters stood firmly by me throughout

Although in the planning days of early 1944, Montgomery had advocated the complete abandonment of the southern operation in order to secure more landing craft for Overlord, he now, in early August, agreed with me that the attack should go in as planned.

Coincidentally with this drawn-out discussion, Montgomery suddenly proposed to me that he should retain tactical co-ordinating control of all ground forces throughout the campaign. This, I told him, was impossible, particularly in view of the fact that he wanted to retain at the same time direct command of his own army group To my mind and to that of my staff the proposition was fantastic

The reason for having an army group commander is to assure direct, day-by-day battlefield direction in a specific portion of the front, to a degree impossible to a supreme commander. It is certain that no one man could perform this function with respect to his own portion of the line and at the same time exercise logical and intelligent supervision over any other portion.

The only effect of such a scheme would have been to place Montgomery in position to draw at will, in support of his own ideas, upon the strength of the entire command.

• • •

FIELD MARSHAL Montgomery, like General Patton, conformed to no type. He deliberately pursued certain eccentricities of behavior, one of which was to separate himself habitually from his staff. He lived in a trailer, surrounded by a few aides. This created difficulties in the staff work that must be performed in timely and effective fashion if any battle is to result in victory. He consistently refused to deal with a staff officer from any headquarters other than his own, and, in argument, was persistent up to the point of decision.

He is best described by himself in a letter he wrote to me shortly after the victory was won in Europe. He said,

Dear Ike:

Now that we have all signed in Berlin I suppose we shall soon begin to run our own affairs. I would like, before this happens, to say what a privilege and an honor it has been to serve under you I owe much to your wise guidance and kindly forbearance I know my own faults very well and I do not suppose I am an easy subordinate; I like to go my own way

But you have kept me on the rails in difficult and stormy times, and have taught me much.

For all this I am very grateful. And I thank you for all you have done for me

Yours very sincerely and faithfully

Marshall

In my reply, I said, in part:

Your very generous letter of [illegible] has been especially welcome to me because it has been made clear to me by several sources that you have been responsible for the nice things Bedell Smith has said about me. But I am also glad to have evidence to the fact that a friendship such as ours could be made regardless of your personal [illegible] on your staff and officers in execution are to be counted upon with certainty

Another interesting [illegible] pressing discussion [illegible] with Secretary Morgenthau. In a visit to our headquarters in early August, 1944 he said that the rate [illegible] exchange to be established between Germany, should be such as to avoid giving that country any advantage I candidly told him that I had been far too busy to be specifically concerned with the future economy of Germany but that I had an able staff section working on the problem This brought about a general conversation on the subject of Germany's future and I expressed myself roughly as follows

"There is no use for some one else to decide, but my personal opinion is that following upon the conclusion of hostilities, there must be room for doubt as to who won the war Germany must be occupied More than this, the German people must not be allowed to escape a sense of guilt, of complicity in the tragedy that has engulfed the world

"Prominent Nazis, along with certain industrialists, must be tried and punished. Membership in the Gestapo and in the S. S. should be taken as prima facie evidence of guilt The general staff must be broken up, all its archives confiscated, and members suspected of complicity in starting the war or in any war crime should be tried. The German nation should be responsible for reparations to such countries as Belgium, Holland, France, Luxembourg, Norway and Russia. The war-making power of the country should be eliminated.

"Possibly this could be done by strict controls on industries using heavy fabricating machinery or by the mere expedient of preventing any manufacture of airplanes. The Germans should be permitted and required to make their own living, and should not be supported by America. Therefore choking off natural resources would be folly."

I EMPHATICALLY repudiated one suggestion I had heard that the Ruhr mines should be flooded. This seemed silly and criminal to me. Finally, I said that the military government of Germany should pass from military to civil hands as quickly as this could be accomplished.

These views were presented to every one who queried me on the subject, both then and later. They were eventually placed before the President and the secretary of state when they came to Potsdam in July, 1945.

• • •

With thirty-six divisions in action in Europe, logistics became the central problem for General Eisenhower even while the Allied armies were pouring across northern France in pursuit of the Nazis. One division consumed from 600 to 700 tons of supplies every day. To bring in these supplies, without ports, over destroyed railroads and roads, was one of the major assignments of World War II.

General Eisenhower outlines this problem and the steps which were taken to meet it in the next installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published here tomorrow.

REDS DEMAND ALL TROOPS LEAVE REICH

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Nov. 25 — A Communist drive to get all occupation troops out of Germany was launched last night

The German Peoples' council a Communist front organization and possible forerunner of an east German parliament, apparently was voicing the Kremlin's policy when it demanded

1. An immediate parley by the Big Four foreign ministers council to set up machinery to write a final peace treaty for Germany.

2. Removal of all occupation troops within a year after the treaty is signed.

Death Benefits Up $6,000,000 in Ohio

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—The institute of life insurance said yesterday Ohioans received $6,000,000 more in life insurance death benefits during the first nine months of 1948 than in the corresponding period of 1947.

Holgar J. Johnson, institute president, attributed the increase to "the growing spread of life insurance ownership rather than an increase in the death rate among policyholders."

Ohio families received $73,268,000 in death benefits through September of this year, compared to $68,165,000 in the corresponding period of 1947. The figure in 1941 was $47,934,000.

PLANT BUILDS SPEEDY PRESS

Hydaulic Co. of Mt. Gilead Brings Out New 100-Ton Machine.

The latest machine for the high speed manufacture of sheet metal presswork is the new 100-ton Fastraverse single action press designed and made by the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. of Mt. Gilead, world's largest builder of hydraulic press equipment.

Fast operation of heavy presses has always been a problem confronting designers of these giant machines.

The new H-P-M 100-ton Fastraverse press is an all hydraulic, self contained, electric driven unit with a huge 48 by 36 inch platen, a 30-inch daylight, and an 18-inch main ram travel. Located in the press bed is a 33-ton hydraulic die cushion with a 32-inch by 25 inch platen and a 7[illegible] inch stroke. Pressing speed of the machine under full load is 146 inches per minute. The press opens and closes at the rate of 770 inches per minute. Operating on a 12-inch working stroke and building up 100-tons pressure on a solid surface, this press will cycle at approximately 20 times per minute. Both speed and pressure are easily adjusted.

The big machine develops this terrific pressure and high speed by using a 40 horsepower electric motor directly connected to a radial piston type pump. Oil is used as the hydraulic pressure medium. Only one hydraulic pump is required for operating the press slide and die cushion.

Three methods of operation are provided, manual, semi-automatic or full automatic. Change over from one method of operation to another is quickly made by the operator at the electric control station.

For quick and easy die set up a manual precision traverse control is provided. The press moves only as the hand control is turned so that dies may be gradually eased together. This eliminates inching as well as jerky start and stop motions.

This particular machine has been built for a prominent manufacturer of communications equipment, an example of the contribution of machine tool manufacturers to the industrial progress of the nation.

Most ceramic floor tiles are unglazed and are fired at a temperature of more than 2,200 degrees Fahrenheit so that they will withstand hard abrasive wear.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

ACTOR SCHOOL AT PASADENA

Playhouse Is Prep Course for Film, Stage and Radio Aspirants.

By JAMES E. HILEMAN JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Calif. — A man 20 miles from Hollywood has what amounts to a private studio which has produced the most successful group of actors and actresses ever to step onto a film set or before the footlights.

Founded 30 years ago, the Pasadena Community Playhouse Association has grown from a struggling acting group to its present status of a half-million dollar playhouse and training plant.

The Playhouse today, as it was in the beginning, is a school of the theater, with professional instruction of collegiate grade. Its graduates go directly into the film industry, radio and the legitimate stage.

Among the legion who first trod the boards in the Playhouse's workshop theater are Dame Judith Anderson, Raymond Burr, Eleanor Parker, Randolph Scott, Victor Mature, Louise Allbritton, Lloyd Nolan, Wayne Morris, Jan Clayton, Delores Moreno, Marilyn Maxwell, Gene Raymond, Ernie Craig and Robert Preston.

Jory, Stevens Prominent Alumni

Victor Jory, Onslow Stevens, Helmut Dantine and Gig Young also are players whose Playhouse experience helped put the names in the Who's Who of stage and screen.

Proof that age need not be a deterrent to aspirants of acting success is shown in the achievements of such Playhouse veterans as Samuel S. Hinds, Florence Bates, and Edgar Buchanan. The latter's comic portrayals have added color to many an otherwise dull western epic. Miss Bates is at her best mirroring the haughty dowager type.

Aside from being a standard character fixture in many films, Samuel Hinds, a former successful lawyer, had a great deal to do with the early efforts of the Pasadena Playhouse to establish itself as a significant element of culture. He donates $500 a week credit to the Playhouse in addition to the $1,000 he and his wife contribute to the present Playhouse.

When business reverses took away the Hinds fortune he made acting his career and found even greater success.

Not listed in the list of Playhouse alumni, are the many who have left but briefly to enjoy once again the curtain applause or brush up on angles of stage work lost during the war years.

Four Groups of Talent

Four distinct groups of talent appear in Playhouse productions. First are students of the School of the Theater ready for their public stage productions. Second are the non-professionals, the butcher, the baker, the homemaker. These are the players who, as mentioned above, want to recover audience interest and applause. Fourth is the Playhouse staff which includes numerous directors who revert to type during the season to once again become disciples of Thespis.

An important phase of the organization's use as a School of the Theater is production of new plays heretofore unpublished or publicly presented. Anyone may submit a manuscript.

In recounting its long history, Oliver B. Pollock of the Playhouse staff, one of the original founders of the theater, said:

"Most of the professional players in the group were lured by Gilmore Brown and included Charles F. Prickett, later general manager. In spite of influenza epidemics, business panics, competition from stock companies, inadequate houses, lack of funds and a leaky roof, the organization prospered.

"An ambitious group of amateurs joined with the professionals to form a new name with the purpose of ever increasing ... Don't Let Your Christmas Happiness Go Up in Smoke

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
Associated Press Writer

EACH year fire turns Christmas, the most joyful time of the year, into tragedy in hundreds of American homes. But fire prevention experts say the hazards surrounding a Christmas tree are learned of as the most tragic fires, says the National Safety Council. They say you can keep Christmas as joyful [illegible]

How can you prevent a fire from ruining your holiday? Answer: Have to do, says the Council, is to follow some simple rules.

First, buy a fresh, green tree. Put it in water [illegible]

[illegible] get the tree. If you [illegible] in the coolest spot in the apartment and turn off the heat nearest it. Then cut off the bottom of the trunk on a slant, an angle with the line of the trunk—and stand it in one of the special tree holders with a water cup and fill it daily.

• • •

PLAIN WATER is best, says the Council. Chemicals to be added to the water supposedly to preserve the tree, have not proven to be satisfactory. Some have made trees even more inflammable. No fireproofing done at your home can be depended upon.

Be sure that your tree is [illegible] and away from radiators, fireplaces and other sources of heat. [illegible] be guyed [illegible]

[illegible] the tree [illegible] and arrangements [illegible] fixtures for the tree [illegible] the tree.

Get your tree [illegible] out of your way well in advance of the Christmas rush, says the Council. Look over the tree and examine each socket carefully. If the socket is broken, if any of the parts appear to be loose, if any bare wires are visible where the wires enter the socket, then mark that socket or cord of the string and replace it with a new one.

• • •

IF YOU USE metal foil "icicles," avoid the possibility of a short-circuit by being careful not to allow the metal to come in contact with any lighted sockets or fixtures.

Don't attach too many light strings to one outlet. A brown fuse is the signal of a dangerous overload. Be sure fuses are the right size and never use a penny or tinfoil in place of one.

[illegible] gifts and articles on the Christmas tree or with other decorations. Place the tree well away from a fireplace or any other heat source where it is exposed to a source of strong heat. Also keep these wrappings away from the tree.

[illegible] Christmas morning proves to be a great deal more [illegible] gifts and wrapping paper from [illegible] the wrapping paper as well as the gifts have been [illegible]

• • •

OTHER PREVENTION hints [illegible] National Safety Council [illegible] They say it is a good idea to provide [illegible] with some other means of [illegible] than a plug for the [illegible] electric lights. Be careful not to leave tree lights burning when no one is home or [illegible] the tree to see whether a wire or the [illegible] near the lights have started [illegible] burn. If so, unplug the [illegible] of the set. When [illegible] start [illegible] it's a good idea to take the tree [illegible] and [illegible] it.

BLIND MAN SHOOTS GOLF IN 90'S

By International News Service

AUGUSTA, Me.—[illegible] golf [illegible] People everywhere [illegible] are [illegible] the story of Bill Grimmett, [illegible] the Central [illegible] best possible par [illegible] He is [illegible]

Grimmett is one of those whose feats in the world of sport [illegible] on the [illegible] eve of [illegible] War he was a scratch golfer. Bill Grimmett came [illegible] to Augusta, Maine, and started [illegible] make a [illegible] a darkened world. He [illegible] golf and he couldn't bring himself to give it up.

Bill [illegible] have his own sight so he used the eyes of a friend, Dick McAllister, a [illegible] at the state house at Augusta.

Now, when the two approach a tee Dick sets the ball, judges the distance to the hole, tells of any hazards and passes the club. From then on Bill takes his own stance and makes his own swing.

When Bill gets within passing distance of the cup Dick hits the caddie tap [illegible] inside of the cup.

[illegible] Stonewall Jackson [illegible] as a boy still is standing [illegible] and from that structure the camp has received its name. Jackson's home was destroyed by fire before the 4-H camp was established by the state legislature shortly after that.

Today, the camp is part of the agriculture, extension service facilities of West Virginia university and it represents an investment of more than $500,000.

In addition to 4-H boys and girls, state and national farm, civic and educational groups spend the bulk of organizations that meet here on a schedule that builds up gradually every day in the year.

Since 1923, when only one cottage and the upper floor of the old mill were available for housing, the camp has grown to comprise 13 cottages, many of them made of stone with housing accommodations for 350. Each cottage has hot and cold running water.

PARKING VIOLATION

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES—What is a fair price for parking an automobile? Edward Weinberg thinks he paid too much when he stopped his car because he felt ill. Another car came alongside. Two men alighted and told Weinberg to get out. They proceeded to relieve him of $235 and cut open his coat with a knife.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

Philip Vertzen's face set itself in the obstinate lines I knew so well.

But he said firmly, "Marge cannot go until Winters comes up for her."

"I hope I didn't upset any orders of yours, Philip," I told him with apparent apologetic solicitude, but with inward glee. "I knew I must stay only a few minutes, so I asked him to wait for me in the hall outside. You will find him stationed there. I am sure."

"He'd better be," Philip said and his tone was almost a growl. But I knew that he was resenting my interference with his authority. He hid his choler, however, beneath an unusually elaborate farewell to me, before he summoned Winters.

Back in the apartment, Junior's eyes flew to mine appealingly from the checker game with which Lillian was absorbing Faith's attention. I nodded with decision at him, and Mary, who had let me in, spoke softly in my ear.

"I see you turned the trick," she said.

"Thanks to you," I returned, and gave her Olga's message of gratitude.

"So," Mary quipped. "I get thanked for wangling a dinner invitation for myself and my husband! That's going some. But I do love Olga's message. Now give me the low down of what you did."

I told her briefly, and then for the rest of the time until Dicky should return she chattered almost incessantly about everything and nothing. I knew, of course, that she was trying to divert me from the monotony of waiting, but I could respond only in monosyllables, and she stopped herself in the middle of a sentence.

"If you'd rather I'd stow the brilliant conversation—" she began, but I interrupted her.

"I'd rather you'd talk," I said, "but don't expect me to answer you."

"Okay," she said. "I get you. I'm doubling for a radio. Well, I don't mind if I can keep the jitters away from you. And now, dear listener, I will resume my broadcast."

I laughed, in spite of my anxiety, at her inimitable mimicry, and she chattered on, while I sat, apparently listening, but with my mind away with my husband, anxiously speculating about the possible dangers of his returning home with his wounded arm. I knew that he must have protested vigorously any attempt of Dr. Twitchell to keep him in the hospital, even if the bullet wound were not as dangerous as we first had feared.

My fears must have reached the rest of the group, for I heard Faith's piping voice addressing Lillian.

"Will you please excuse me, Aunt Lillian, if I don't play another game?" she asked. "I want to go to my mummy."

"Of course, darling," Lillian said. "I think we all want to go to your mummy."

They came toward me, Junior in the van with Faith clinging close to his hand and Roderick dutifully escorting Lillian. And, mercifully, just as they reached me, the knocker sounded.

"Oh," Faith shrieked. "I'll bet that's my daddy," but for once I did not wait to answer her. I knew that Junior was caring for her adequately, and I stopped for nothing as I raced to the doorway, opened it the length of the night chain, then threw it wide open, and went into the embrace of my husband's uninjured right arm.

RULES LAID DOWN FOR KEEPING TEETH

By The United Press

SEATTLE — Toothaches are out-fashioned.

That's the opinion of Dr. John C. Brauer of the University of Washington school of dentistry, a leading authority on children's teeth.

Dr. Brauer said soldier's lack of cavities can be spared from aching molars because of past habits but few children would experience dental pain during their lives if they practiced preventive measures now known to dental science.

"The determining factors are what the child eats and how his teeth are cared for," Dr. Brauer said. "Heredity has little to do with dental decay."

He lists five major points in the protection of children's teeth.

1—A child should visit the dentist before he is three years old. The average youngster already has dental decay before his third birthday.

2—Adequate nutritional diet including proper amounts of milk, eggs, meat, fruits and cereals.

3—A minimum of concentrated sweets such as candy, soft drinks, rich pastries, jams and jellies.

4—Regular and careful cleansing and brushing of teeth.

5—Topical application of sodium fluoride, a new treatment now recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service and the American Dental Association.

DIVORCE SCOURGE BLIGHTS ENGLAND

By International News Service

LONDON — Divorce—that curse of modern family life—is creeping up more and more Britain homes in 1948.

Through the divorce courts of the nation each week march more than 1,000 couples in a steady stream severing ties in the process.

In 1938 a total of 4,614 divorces were granted. By 1946 the annual figure was 3 69' In 1947 some 56,133 couples trailed into court marriages departed single Statistics contend that the 1948 figures will show a further startling rise.

Shocking as Britain's divorce figures in themselves are, the manners being made of divorce are even more scandalous.

False evidence and perjury help swell the thousands of divorce cases each year.

It is estimated that between 70 and 80 per cent of the nation's divorces are "arranged," making the country-wide divorce racket a big money show.

Most frequent ground for divorce is adultery, followed by desertion, cruelty, and nullity in that order.

The most certain way of obtaining a divorce in Britain is to have an undefended petition on the ground of adultery.

Of course most lawyers will usher prospective clients out of their offices if they ask them to "fix" a divorce. But others, not quite so honest, will recommend a private detective.

One reputable private detective admitted that he knew a girl who had served as "unnamed" co-respondent in nearly a hundred divorce cases in the past three years. Only satisfactory legal evidence of adultery is necessary in court—the co-respondent does not have to be named.

Today, divorce in Britain has been greatly speeded up and the long divorce queues of several years ago have entirely disappeared. This despite the fact that more people than ever are seeking divorces.

BOOMING EXPERIMENT

By International News Service

BURBANK, Calif — Richard Dempsey, 15, is—or at least was—interested in chemistry. In an experiment, he mixed together sulphur, charcoal, phosphorous and potassium chlorate. Richard opened the door and the windows the hard way with an explosion. He suffered burns and a mangled hand.

Old Noel Cards Hold Lead

Types of designs most popular on Christmas cards, according to the greeting card manufacturers.

* * *

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Writer

Traditional Christmas cards are just as popular as ever. While novelty cards may come and go the old Noel symbols remain best sellers.

The most popular of all, says the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers, is the floral design. Nearly 200,000,000 Yuletide greetings this year will picture roses, enticing mistletoe holly and pine cones, and the poinsettia—the flame-blossomed Mexican flower that Ambassador Joel R. Poinsett brought back to the U. S. in 1829 to become the most popular Christmas flowering plant.

Second place goes to outdoor scenes—the country snowscape, the wind-swept outdoor Christmas tree, the sleighing party. More and more of these cards, however are picturing city streets and front-yard scenes, reflecting the shift in the nation's population from farm to city.

Religious cards portraying the Nativity, the Sheepherds, and the Wise men are next in popularity, reaching the 150,000,000 mark. There seems to be a trend in religious cards from scenes of present day church and churchgoers, which were very popular a few years ago back to designs centering around the Biblical narrative of the first Christmas.

Cards picturing whimsical cherubs cavorting through a celestial hooday are in fourth place. These gay and prudent little angels surged into popularity during the war and are the only really "new" theme to gain prominence in recent years.

About 140,000,000 Christmas cards this year will show youngsters marveling at the Christmas tree peering anxiously up the chimney, singing carols. Portraits of Santa Claus and candle designs are the two other Yuletide themes that regularly sell more than 100,000,000 Christmas cards each year.

There are a greater variety of "special title" cards for relatives, friends and loved ones, card publishers report. More than half of the Christmas cards sold in the 35c to $1 bracket are "special title" greetings, with the "mother" title leading.

U.S. 'Chute Put On Normandy Shield

By International News Service

SAINTE MERE, France — The American Army parchute has taken its place with the golden leopard of Normandy as a heraldic symbol on the shield of this little village where four years ago parachutes overhead meant D-Day and liberty from German oppression.

Gratefully and in the tradition of commemorating on the shield the most important events in village history, Sainte-Mere-Eglise has added to its emblem two open parachutes carrying stars.

At Arromanches, not far away, an American eagle and a British Lion have been added to the town shield, likewise to symbolize D-Day.

The shield was used for the first time recently to ornament the bridge of the aircraft carrier Arromanches when President Vincent Auriol visited the Normandy battle area for a D-Day anniversary celebration.

He Went Too Far

Perhaps it's true that our Puritan forebears were too strict; that they were bigoted, unhappy, narrow-minded people. It is very easy to carry anything too far. But the Puritan was a man. He hacked a foothold for himself and his family out of a savage wilderness; he endured and prospered there.

The day of the grim-faced Puritan has passed, but the principles for which he stood are unchanging rocks standing in the swift-rushing current of the years and the centuries. In our small way, here at the Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home, we strive to emulate the same kind of steadfast adherence to those principles of business conduct which we feel are of vital importance.

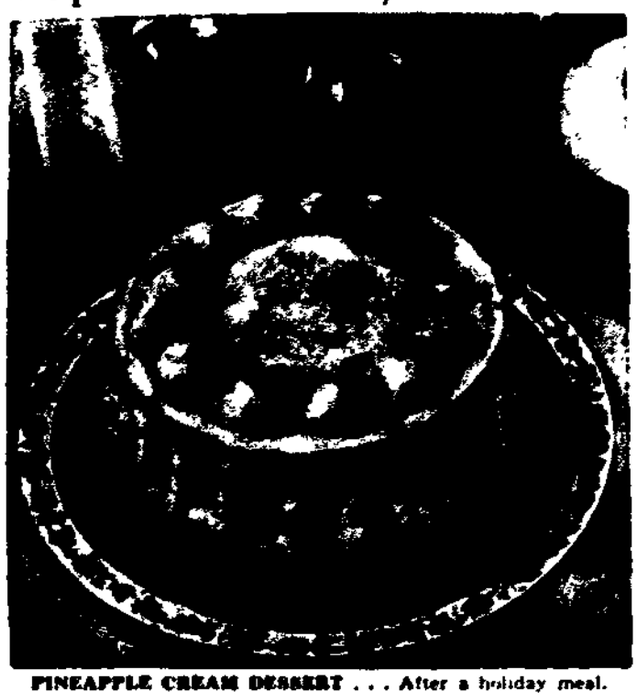
Popular Holiday Desserts



PINEAPPLE CREAM DESSERT . . . After a holiday meal.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If there are children in your family, or if youngsters are coming to visit for the holidays, it's a good idea to plan desserts that are not only festive but also are suitable for young appetites. Delicious sweets made with gelatin will do nutritious duty.

You may have noticed that more recipes call for one envelope rather than one tablespoon of unflavored gelatin. Variations in the strength of the raw material itself have been taken into consideration. The number of grams of gelatin put into the envelope or the package is calculated to jell one pint of liquid.

Instead of sprinkling the envelope of gelatin over a quarter cup of cold liquid and allowing the grains to stand for a few minutes until they swell and absorb the liquid as you suggested in many recipes that the gelatin be softened in a half-cup of liquid so that when the hot liquid is added it will get to the jelling point more quickly.

Children like light and foamy whips. These clear gelatin mixtures are chilled until slightly thicker than egg white consistency, then beaten with a rotary beater until delicate and foamy.

A delectable gelatin dessert can be made from a clear gelatin mixture and ice cold evaporated milk that has been beaten stiff. Grown-ups who do not like the heavier pies or steam puddings after a holiday meal will appreciate this dessert just as much as young fry.

Pineapple Cream Dessert

Ingredients: 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1½ cups ice cold evaporated milk.

Method: Drain crushed pineapple. Soften gelatin in pineapple syrup; place over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Mix in crushed pineapple, lemon juice and rind; chill until the mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip chilled evaporated milk until stiff; beat in gelatin mixture. Turn into 1½ quart mold. Chill until firm. To serve, unmold and garnish with citron slices cut in fancy pattern and cinnamon candies. Makes 8 servings.

Veterinarians Declare War on Rabies Scourge

By The United Press

CHICAGO — The American Veterinarian Medical association has laid plans for wiping out rabies in the United States.

The association spokesman said scientists have developed rabies vaccines that give "positive protection to 9½ per cent of all dogs vaccinated."

"Now, for the first time in the nation's history, federal agencies have the necessary funds and administrative organization to fight this dreaded disease," the spokesmen said.

"There is no longer any excuse for this disease striking down 9,000 to 10,000 animals each year, as it has been doing for the past five years."

Dog vaccination and strict licensing and control of dogs in rabies areas are the main features of the eradication plan.

Susie Learns About Life From Modern Toyland

SO THAT'S HOW IT'S DONE! Susie watches in amazement as gaily painted toy hen cackles lays three eggs and then walks majestically away

FAMILY GROUP . . . The three baby bunnies shown here emerge from a zippered pouch in the Mama rabbit's tummy. Dog and puppies are also available same style

OH BOY—REAL MILK! Toyland's modern cow stands patiently while Susie milks her. The milk is inserted from a bottle through an opening on top

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Writer

Parents may expect some jolts from the new realism of 1948 toys. But Santa's helpers this year backed by leading child psychologists say that modern toys should reflect life as it is. Children he explains don't like to be kidded.

The newest baby doll will perform almost all the human functions. It can be fed crackers (later removed from a container in the back of the neck). It takes water from a bottle and later either wets its diaper or performs the same function on a small pot. It has hair that can be washed and when its stomach is pressed it burps.

Churchill Ex-Pilot Calls Him Great Actor

By The United Press

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Captain Jack Ruggles, American flier who was personal pilot for Winston Churchill during the war, startled a meeting of the chamber of commerce by calling his ex-chief a "ham" actor.

"He's a very great guy," Ruggles said. "To understand him you have to realize that he's a great actor—ham—who, once he gets the center of the stage, keeps it no matter what and milks every scene dry just like an actor on the stage on opening night."

"He's terrific and acting is part of his makeup," the pilot said. "He is dramatic and had it not been for that dramatism and his show of front during the dark days of the buzz bombs, it is quite likely there wouldn't always have been an England."

Letters from Our Readers

REASONS FOR THANKS

Editor of The Star: Eighty-five years ago on Nov. 19, one of the foremost leaders and statesmen of this nation delivered a speech, that in length or brevity, has not been equaled, considering the truths in it and the formula for keeping this, a successful, purposeful and united nation.

Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg speech expressed the need for the people of this country to dedicate themselves to the task of not only preserving the Union at that time but that they and those that follow them should continue the task of preserving the Union and that Union must be—government of the people, by the people, and for the people. That formula surely is worth using today and for all the days to come.

From authentic records, Abraham Lincoln was not an outstanding and showy person; just one of the people. Because he was sincere, he is one of the greatest of the people of this nation. Because he was selected by the people he was not for himself only, nor for one or several people or groups; he was for all the people. His example is worthy of following. Not for just one day or a number of historical days but for every day of the year.

For his work and that of other great and near great leaders the people of this nation can and should be thankful.

The Puritans were thankful for a chance to secure freedom of expression and action that had been denied them in the land from where they came. They were thankful for the little amount of bare necessities that was a return for their labor.

We today should be thankful that they sowed the seeds that produced the declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the National Constitution, American land, something every day to be thankful for.

Rancher Tends Chores In Home-Made Plane

By The United Press

LANCASTER, Calif. — Ernest T. Fillinger, 52-year-old Antelope valley rancher, thinks the air age is here to stay.

Twenty-five years ago he offered to trade his home in Santa Monica for an airplane. Finally he constructed his own plane from a bunch of old parts and an engine which uses only dry cells for its ignition system.

Today Fillinger uses the same plane for shopping trips to the city, chores about his ranch and to commute to his civilian job at the Muroc Army base 40 miles away.

His plane's engine, now 29 years old, is as good as ever, Fillinger says. He explains it is the same type Amelia Earhart used in her plane when she learned to fly.

The rancher devised a special wrench so he can turn pipe line irrigation valves off and on without leaving the plane.

He does all the repair work on the plane himself and has installed gadgets so he can start the engine and pull the chocks from the wheels without leaving the cockpit.

Friction matches were first made in England in 1827.

DELINQUENCY FOUGHT BY "JUNIOR POLICE"

By International News Service

MATTOON, Ill. — Police of the city of Mattoon have found a way to fight juvenile delinquency with the enthusiasm of the younger generation itself.

That is the conclusion of Mattoon citizens after the city's Junior Police Force helped to reduce juvenile arrests 9" per cent in one year.

Mattoon's police chief started the junior police force program here in 1946. All youths who apply, age 10 to 16 years, are accepted as junior police and must promise to follow five rules:

(1) Be clean, friendly and courteous. (2) Respect the rights and property of others. (3) Cooperate with parents and teachers. (4) Go to church regularly. (5) Be home by 10 p. m., unless accompanied by parents.

The junior police are given badges, patterned after the regular police force stars, and are told to "get the cop out of the bogeyman class and make him a pal."

The idea clicked fast and still is going strong. More than 400 youngsters volunteered the first week, and almost without exception have lived up to their promises. In fact, parents have been using the threat of loss of the police badge as a club to force their children to behave.

GERMAN PEOPLE'S CAR. Here is the Volkswagen, type car which Hitler promised Germans but never delivered. It is being built at rate of more than 2,000 monthly in Hannover plant. Most are for export. Germans can buy them, with coupons, if they can afford to save $1,500. Engine is in rear.

BACHELOR HAS DIAMOND MINE

One-Time Penniless Scientist Now Earns $100,000 Daily.

By JAMES POWERS
International News Correspondent

NAIROBI, KENYA, BRITISH EAST AFRICA — The most unusual man in the world—or at any rate the latest candidate for the office—is a tall, dark and handsome Canadian of 41. He is also a bachelor.

The picture above shows on the right girls. The spot on the left is where this gentleman, Dr. John T. Williamson, picks up his earnings at the end of each day. Said earnings amount to about $100,000 each and every day.

That's right. Not $100,000 yearly, monthly or weekly, but daily. He could earn in excess of $36,000,000 a year. The sandy desert soil he tills yields a lovely crop. Diamonds. The most perfect diamonds in the world.

And take it per gentlemen of as yet unacquired forty-eight years ago this same man was so poor he could not afford to buy tires for his single truck. It was running on the rims when Dr. Williamson sat beneath a giant baobab tree in western Tanganyika and let his hair hang loose disconsolately through the dusty earth.

Tired Broke, Discouraged

He was tired broke and discouraged. He knew there were diamonds there someplace. He was a scientist. B. A., B. Sc., Ph. D., graduate of McGill university, Toronto. Not just a penniless prospector hoping for the best on the basis of legends and folklore of the country. He was sure scientifically sure there were diamonds in this choking earth in which he had expended his modest funds.

As Dr. Williamson mused that day, he looked at the dirt in his hands. Something glistened. He picked it out and realized quietly he had found his diamonds. Now, eight years later, the Williamson mines at Shinyanga, Tanganyika, contain enough gems to send the world price of diamonds plummeting if this youngish doctor of philosophy pleases. And he owns it all himself without a partner or co-owner of any kind.

Williamson is carefully reticent about his income. I have seen however a picture of a plateful of diamonds worth $400,000. It represented three days output of the Williamson mines. These diamonds have been taken from within a few feet of the surface with no more complicated machinery than a steam shovel and wire-mesh sorter.

Unskilled Labor Used

Completely unskilled African labor is used throughout. Only a few white men are employed at the mines. The African labor comes to work naked and is supplied with specially designed overalls in which there are no pockets.

The natives are exceeding well paid and the housing and food supplied them is better than that enjoyed by many white persons in East Africa. Williamson for example, flies a special plane weekly from Tanganyika to Kenya to keep the African employes in fresh vegetables.

Williamson's output of the mine depends only on his wishes and his agreements. The world's diamond market is controlled by a carefully regulated syndicate anxious that the world shall not be flooded with the precious stones and that the members of the syndicate maintain high standards.

Williamson is in agreement with the syndicate. At the moment he [illegible] diamonds. This guarantees that the shower of stones he would release on the world will not depress the established price of the sparkling June trophy.

The great Kimberly mine in the Union of South Africa was considered one of the world's most valuable until the discovery of the Williamson mines. Kimberly mines per cent are gem stones and nine-[illegible] per cent are the opposite, ninety per cent gems and ten per cent industrial.

TRACTOR SEAT MAKES LIFE ON FARM EASIER

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Neb. — Farmers throughout the world may ride easier because of the ingenuity of two young Nebraskans.

The pair decided there was no reason farmers should be jolted and sometimes injured as they operate tractors, so they set out to do something about it.

The inventors, Ivan Schmid and Leonard Fleischer, devised a tractor seat that eliminated all discomfort.

Schmid, 39, is farm-bred with ideas gained from operating tractors in the field. Fleischer, 37-year-old salesman, learned the needs of farmers in making his rounds.

They pooled their talents. During 1944 they worked on new seat ideas. In the spring of 1945 they made their first sales.

Firm Expands

In August of 1945, the pair incorporated for $10,000 and started manufacturing in a 22-foot building. The firm was recapitalized recently at $100,000 and has expanded into three more buildings.

The first thing the inventors did when they tackled the problem in 1944 was to buy a used tractor for $50. They devised a hydraulic shock absorber under the seat which stopped "seat spanking."

After a few sales of their original model the firm provided an air-cushioned seat to pad the conventional steel seat.

However, on rough ground, farmers still were bouncing from side to side.

Stabilizer Used

Fleischer and Schmid found that by installing a gyroscopic stabilizer adapted from the mechanism that kept tank guns level and accurate during the war.

The final improvement dreamed up by the pair was a tailpiece arrangement to enable the farmer to lift the seat and sit a little right on the frame of the tractor.

The seats have been shipped from the corporation factory to users in Europe, Asia and South America. Sales outlets have been created through more than 5000 dealers in the United States.

Having perfected the tractor seat, the two men now have added other farm items to their list of products and are on the threshold of major farming aids.

North is placed at the top of maps not for any special reason, but simply because the custom has been followed for hundreds of years.

13,412-Foot Mountain Finally Receives Name

By The United Press

GEORGETOWN, Colo.—A 13,412-foot mountain near here got along for several million years without a name and survived a gold rush in the process until the Georgetown Improvement Association decided it was neglected.

So the rugged peak on whose slopes lies the ghost town of Waldorf is now Mount Wilcox. It was named after a pioneer railroad man and mine owner, Edward J. Wilcox.

Two living children of the pioneer, the Rev. E. B. Wilcox of Boston and Miss Helen B. Wilcox of New York, were guests at the naming ceremony.

Cow Lives for Weeks Without Food, Water

By The United Press

ELECTRA, Tex.—Meet a Texas cow—one of the tough kind.

A. E. Reid, a farmer-rancher near here, searched the countryside for a 600-pound Hereford heifer that was missing from his herd. He finally found her—at the bottom of a slush pit near an abandoned oil well near his land.

Bossy had lost 150 pounds during the three and one-half weeks she had been in the pit without food or water. Veterinarians gave her a good chance to recover.

DRILL FOR OIL IN GULF WATER

500 Work on Project Off Shores of Texas and Louisiana.

By The United Press

CHICAGO—For more than a year, about 500 men have been living on islands of steel in the Gulf of Mexico, drilling for oil below the surface of the water.

Two oil men attending the annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute here said the operation, known as offshore drilling, is being carried on by 15 oil companies. Their operations cover a 2,500,000-acre area from six to 20 miles off the shores of Texas and Louisiana.

The oil men said their companies have achieved "fairly good" results so far, compared with land operations which cost much less than offshore drilling.

Before underwater drilling can begin, gangs must construct their [illegible]

[illegible] for several days only and then are transported to dock for as many days off. Scuffs of concrete accumulate around the piers a year.

The oil men said their principal headaches are the tropical storms which sweep the gulf area from May through November. However, the pilings are considered as safe as the ground on shore and the men seldom are called in from their camps atop the pilings. The pilings are built to withstand 100-mile winds and 35-foot waves.

Underwater drilling was started after geologists reported what they termed a "continental shelf" in the gulf water. The "shelf" is composed of land [illegible]

Mental State Named As Factor in Allergy

By The United Press

EVANSTON, Ill. — A Northwestern University medical school professor believes closer cooperation between psychiatrists and allergists is necessary.

Dr. Leonard H. Harris, Peoria, Ill., said that although asthma sometimes is caused by emotional upsets alone, many allergy cases involve a combination of emotional and physical factors.

Many allergists feel that psychiatrists over-emphasize, and that psychiatrists believe that allergists minimize, the importance of emotions," Harris said. "The truth lying somewhere between the points of view ... can be determined by collaborative studies."

LADY POLICE DO GOOD JOB

Pittsburgh Lauds Work of Feminine Law-Enforcing Agents.

By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA — How would you like to be "pinched" by a lady cop?

It's being done every day. But would you don't think you'd relish the idea of having a pretty lady ... on the ... then stay clear of Pittsburg. For ... the women on the police force really ... business.

Pittsburg's Superintendent ... Harvey J. Scott said ... a good word for policewomen ... when he addressed the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association convention in Philadelphia.

Chief Scott said:

"I feel that the ... training and good ... brought into police work ... the existence if they did ... anything else.

Accepted on Most Forces

Policewomen long have been accepted in most of the nation's larger cities as a necessary part of the police force. Most of them are plainclothes women who are assigned mainly to handle women ... to act as "stool pigeons" to trap men criminals, or to track down juvenile delinquency.

But in Pittsburgh, the police force of uniformed cops spots fifty-one women who wear uniforms similar to those of the Waves, and performs a myriad of duties that male policemen usually perform.

Are they good? Can they handle a case as efficiently as men?

Scott says there absolutely is "no argument that the policewoman is more adaptable and successful than men in certain police techniques."

Can They Stand Pressure

Can they stand up under fire, both literally and figuratively? More than once a Pittsburgh policewoman has swapped shots with a desperado or even taken a terrific physical beating gamely.

In one instance, Scott related, a petticoat cop was knocked down four times while she was attempting to arrest a car thief. But she got up off the ground each time and finally captured him.

When the thief was brought in to Headquarters he remarked:

"She just tired me out."

Pittsburgh makes good use of its uniformed policewomen. When the schools reopened this September, 140 female cops were assigned to keep an eye on youngsters at busy street intersections near schools.

Duties of Lady Cops

Some of the other duties of the Smoky City's lady officers include investigations, surveillances, juvenile delinquency cases, chauffering radio operators, finger printing, and work as receptionists.

Scott said that once a woman is used in one type of police work, there is always a request for more women to fill the same type job.

He believes that women succeed in this line of work because they have a will to succeed, because they are neat, have high morale, are patient, sympathetic, understanding, and persevering, and because they learn their work well.

The gals ran into some opposition when they started out. Young blades made with wolf whistles, older men just looked amused, and women either raised an eyebrow or envied the trim blue uniforms.

But Pittsburgh's policewomen just did their work and did it well. They still get wolf whistles and looks of envy, but there aren't any more amused looks.

Tooth Defects Seen To Affect Hearing

By The United Press

NEW ORLEANS—Dr. William J. Manion of the Eye, Ear and Throat hospital believes that missing teeth or poorly fitted dentures affect the hearing of 3,000,000 people in the United States.

Dr. Manion, a dentist, said he had been able to help the hearing of three out of four patients by making dental corrects. He said one 64-year-old woman came to the hospital with extreme facial pain and loss of hearing.

Her false teeth were fitted poorly, he said. She was given a new set of teeth. Her pain soon stopped and her hearing improved.

Dr. Manion emphasized that there are various causes of deafness besides poor teeth and correction of dental troubles is not a cure. But he said experiments have shown that hearing does improve if it is caused by bad teeth and the teeth are worked on.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Infected Organ May Cause Trouble Elsewhere

It has been known for a long time that infection of one part of the body with germs can cause trouble in other parts. Infected tonsils and teeth are two parts of the body that may be responsible for disorders of the eyes. Infections of the teeth are particularly likely to set up eye troubles.

The explanation of these ... is not always an easy matter. For example, if the tonsils are infected their removal will not get rid of the germs present in the upper part of the throat or on the sides of the throat and nearby tissues. These germs continue to grow and form toxins or poisons which are absorbed into the blood stream.

In the same way clearing up the infection may not get rid of all the germs present.

What is necessary in these cases is to build up the patient's resistance to overcome the infection, after as much as possible of the infected tissues have been gotten rid of. This removal of the tonsils will be helpful and the patient's resistance may increase thereafter. He may then be able to make enough antibodies to destroy the germs that remain. However, if the patient's resistance remains at a low level after the operation, the symptoms will continue.

The treatment of the eye ... may be helpful. This ... be supplemented by the ... of proper food, vitamins, ...

LEST WE FORGET...

THANKSGIVING WAS MADE IN AMERICA

Let Us Not Forget, Humbly, To Give Thanks This Year

The little company of Pilgrims, pitifully few in a great, uncharted, unfriendly wilderness, came to their first Thanksgiving and knelt in humble gratitude before the food that was barely enough to keep them alive. They had fought for their freedom ... they had stood their ground ... and won! It was a Thanksgiving made in a new land out of a hard and bitter struggle. As we sit down this year in the comfort and with the abundance that our America has given us ... let us hold fast to a strength and faith as great as theirs. It is still our own Thanksgiving, made in America, for Americans.

CONVENTION HALL NEEDS COOL AIR

PHILADELPHIA — Town Convention Hall's sure three national political parties held no shudder conventions this summer most likely will be air-conditioned before the 1952 conclaves roll around.

In fact, it's a pretty sure bet that unless the sweltering auditorium is cooled off, Philadelphia will lose its proud title of "Convention City."

Republicans, Democrats and Wallace third-party delegates suffered through steaming sessions in Convention Hall. More than one was heard to complain about the lack of comfort provided in the huge arena.

At any rate, the Quaker City Council already is out to do something about the condition. President Fred Garman declared bluntly that air-conditioning is "vital" if Philadelphia is to even hope for return visits by the major parties in 1952.

Only One Obstacle—Money

There's only one obstacle in the path of air-conditioning Convention Hall — money. Experts figure it will involve an expenditure of more than one million dollars to air-condition the big auditorium.

Six months ago — before the conventions came to town and dropped perhaps $12,000,000 into the coffers of Philadelphia merchants — the council blinked at that million-dollar figure for just cooling off convention delegates.

Instead of spending that vast amount for air-conditioning, 59 huge fans were utilized during the Republican conclave to augment the hall's forced-air circulating system. It still was too hot.

The Democrats put in an additional 23 fans, but that didn't help matters much either.

These Two Boys Leave Home Once Too Often

By The United Press

INDIANAPOLIS — John McDougal's patience was wearing thin. He patted his two sons, Paul and Joey, on the back after they got back from a junket on which they bought new bicycles with more than $100 McDougal had saved for new bath room fixtures.

When the two boys arrived sheepishly at home, McDougal merely said.

"Well, boys, that's all right. I was young once, too."

But his tune changed when, more than a month later, the two prodigals ran away from home again. This time, McDougal paced the floor, razor strop in hand, while police searched for his sons.

Mother's Day Founder Dies, Blind, Penniless

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 — Anna M. Jarvis, lonely spinster who founded Mother's day and spent the wealth it produced trying to abolish the commercialism that grew up around it, died today at 84—blind and penniless.

Miss Jarvis, a native of West Chester, Pa., died in a private sanatorium here. She had been in poor health since early 1944 when she exhausted her inheritance and the funds she had collected during the years she campaigned for the observance.

Death ended a controversial career that began in 1907 when Miss Jarvis started a campaign to establish a day to honor mothers. She succeeded in 1914 when President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the second Sunday in May a day for honoring the nation's mothers.

Miss Jarvis was born in West Chester in 1864. She attended the local schools and was graduated from the Women's College of West Chester in 1881.

Miss Jarvis lived most of her life in Philadelphia. She had been employed as a secretary for a wholesale produce firm here before she retired in 1934.

Miss Jarvis was the daughter of Ann Maria Reeves Jarvis, a Methodist minister's wife who was active in church and welfare work. The mother originated the idea of Mother's day and started the movement in 1858 by gathering a few friends in her home for a memorial service.

The movement started Miss Jarvis wrote to legislators and executive officers of nations and states during adoption of the holiday. Finally her pleading was successful.

Miss Jarvis was the center of a bitter battle against the commercialization of the day. She denounced "profiteers" who capitalized on the sentimental aspects of the occasion. She tended flowers from her mother's grave to her only close relative, Ethel Jarvis Hutchinson, who died in 1944.

Says Too Many Aiming To Teach High School

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25 — Too many students are headed for high school teacher careers, Dr. Clyde Hissong, state education superintendent, said yesterday.

Hissong said the 16,000 students now in high school teacher courses would be sufficient to fill the state's teaching needs if they were properly distributed between elementary and high schools.

"But I regret to say that three out of four of this total number are planning to be high school teachers," Hissong added. "Actually, we should be training 3,000 new elementary teachers for every 1,000 new high school teachers, as the situation now stands."

NEW CADILLAC CAR ON DISPLAY FRIDAY

McDaniel Motor Co. To Show 1949 Model.

A comparison of 20 years of progress in the car building is to be seen Friday at the showrooms of the McDaniel Motor Co. when the new 1949 Cadillac Sedan goes on sale for the first time here.

Comparison of the 1949 automobile luxury of 20 years ago with that of today will be made by placing a 1929 Cadillac alongside the new model.

The new car on display here will be a four door sedan of the 62 model series.

Cadillac will offer the motorist a choice of five models in 1949 in the 61 standard, the 62 deluxe, the 60 Special Fleetwood and the 75 series of five or seven passenger limousines.

All the new cars will be powered with the entirely new Cadillac "Kettering" engine which is the result of 10 years of engineering research by Charles F. Kettering, General Motors top researcher and vice president. This is the revolutionary new super-high compression motor which has startled engineers during extensive tests by its trouble free operation, high power ratio per pound of weight, and resultant gas and oil economy induced by the highest gasoline motor efficiency rating yet recorded.

Nearly 50 Cities Out To Ban Comic Books

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 — Nearly 50 cities have taken steps to ban the sale of comic books deemed objectionable, the United States conference of mayors reported yesterday.

The conference said in a statement that this is the result of "increasing and persistent" demands by parents, church and civic leaders for city governments to do something about the problem.

In making public the results of a survey, the conference said it found most cities have sought the cooperation of wholesalers and dealers "in some plan of voluntary control or self-censorship."

BELATED STATE PAYMENT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 25 — State Treasurer Don Ebright received a 25-cent piece in the mail yesterday. A note with the money said: "enclosed find 25 cents for a child's admission that was not paid." The note was addressed to the Ohio State fair and had a Columbus postmark. "This just proves," said Ebright, "that either your conscience or your parents will catch up with you."

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

THANKSGIVING THOUGHTS

Editor of The Star: Another year has rolled around to the time when people begin to think of Thanksgiving and Christmas. Since Christmas is celebrated after Thanksgiving it gives one a real to think about what they should be thankful for. To me it means that God was born to be my personal Savior. With His coming as a babe was born as you and I through childhood to manhood suffering the things such as all children do for He was human as well as divine. Then Christ in the bloom of His life met the awful death on the cross for our sins. It makes me happy to know He loved me enough to die for me.

It leaves me to face myself and ask myself, have I done everything Lord said. He was Christ would have me do? Right where I live the one who walks and walks in my shoes is Jesus Christ of me? In these days of strife and country and world-wide chaos inhabited by the people for whom Christ died, are we as mindful as we should be of His power?

Our very next breath belongs to God, our future is in His hands, our children and possessions are His. Are we good stewards? I ask myself am I taking care of what God has allowed me to have? Am I teaching my children that God is all and in all? Am I living daily before my neighbors as God would have me? When my son goes into the service for his country have I taught him that God is his strongest ally, the Bible his most dependable weapon, have I taught my son that Jesus saves, and if he should be taken by death that to be absent from the body is to be with God?

I feel today that the most important thing to be thankful for is that we have done the things that Christ died for. To accept Him as our personal Saviour, to use and enjoy the blood-bought freedom of soul salvation, then when we have purposed to put God uppermost in our hearts and lives, we possess the faith, the victory that is sure to overcome the world.

May God help our nation. I am truly thankful for it.

RADIO EXECUTIVE KIWANIS SPEAKER

E. Y. Flanigan of Toledo Talks on Television.

E. Y. Flanigan of Toledo, president of the Ohio Association of Broadcasters, spoke on television at a meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at Hotel Harding. He was the guest speaker at the Rotary club's Thanksgiving meeting last week. Rev. Baptist church gave a Thanksgiving message on pleasures that Marion residents should be thankful for the privilege of living in America.

Mr. Flanigan said because of the expense involved in perfecting television sets will be limited in the next few years. In setting up a television broadcasting station, he said approximately a half million dollars and in some areas such as Marion are beyond effective broadcasting range. Usually reception is impossible over 50 or 60 miles, he said.

Television in color will of course be several years, declared Mr. Flanigan. At the present time Toledo has over 4,000 sets and these owners have found that the secret of good television reception is in placing the aerial in the proper spot. His talk was followed by a short question period.

Chosen as junior Kiwanians for the next 10 weeks were Francis Klaus, Kevin Kinghorn, John Isaly and Tom Taylor. Guests were C. E. Cox of Fremont, Clark Durer of Marion, H. B. Walker of Athens, Danny McGinnis and Alan Cleveland of Marion. No regular meeting of the Kiwanis will be held next week.

Race Track Owner Gets 5-Year Sentence

By The Associated Press

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 25 — Bill Dyas, 48, owner of the Wheeling Downs race track yesterday pleaded guilty to one count of an income tax evasion indictment and was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

In addition Federal Judge William E. Baker imposed a $10,000 fine.

Dyas was one of five persons indicted by a federal grand jury on charges that he failed to report as income $1,000,000 which was collected during 1942 and 1943 on bets placed at the track by servicemen. The others are scheduled to be tried in January.

CAMPAIGN REPORTS FILED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 24 — The Democratic state executive committee today filed its first election campaign report with the secretary of state, listing receipts of $62,000 and expenditures of $59,551. The report also announced a balance of $2,502 but reported unpaid bills totaling $12,987. Governor-elect Frank J. Lausche filed his campaign report today listing donations at $3,000 and expenditures in the same amount.

YOUTHS' CRIME WAVE AT END

Two Boys, 15, Captured After Terrorizing Residents of Hyde Park.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25—Two 15-year-old youths who fled at two o'clock, routed a trail of $230 and shattered a half dozen windows with bullets in a 36-hour crime wave, were taken into custody yesterday.

Absence from school led to their capture and recovery of $230. They were turned over to juvenile authorities. One said he started two weeks ago.

Short though their careers in lawlessness were, they had spread terror throughout the exclusive Forest Hill drive section of Hyde Park.

They attempted to stop Mrs. Margaret Rohs, wife of Dr. Henry Rohs, yesterday morning as she was driving home, and fired their rifles at her when she sped away.

At six o'clock last night they dragged a log across a road in the heavily wooded neighborhood, and when State Senator Kyle F. Brooks and his wife stopped their car, the pair leaped at them from the brush.

Brooks, already out of the car, pulled out his wallet containing $230 and tossed to the masked, rifle-pointing youths. At the same time, he directed his wife to drive away. As she did so, two shots were fired at her, one striking the left front door of the car, about seat high.

Just about noon Tuesday, the home of Joseph C. Gerst, two blocks from the place where Brooks was robbed, was peppered with shots, six windows being shattered, and the kitchen door studded with three pellets.

Police today checked schools in the vicinity for absentees from yesterday's classes.

Patrolman Walter Jordan found one of the boys near the place where the state senator was robbed. The youth admitted participating in the holdup, turned over $10 to the policeman, and led him to the home of the other youngster, where Brooks' wallet, the rest of the money and two rifles were found under a bed. The boy was picked up at school.

The boys said they had discussed plans for going either to Canada to hunt and trap, or to take a trip to Mexico, and needed money for either adventure.

INSURANCE PAYMENTS UP

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—Life insurance death benefits paid Ohioans in the first nine months of 1948 totaled $73,266,000, compared to $66,163,000 in the corresponding period of last year and $47,934,000 in the period of 1941, the Institute of Life Insurance reported yesterday. The increase was attributed to "the growing spread of life insurance ownership."

Thanksgiving Luncheon Held by Youth Group

The Thanksgiving luncheon of the Marion Christian Youth movement was held Tuesday noon at Wesley Methodist church, with Dick Thomas, president, presiding. Feature of the program was a stunt publicizing the state youth conference which will be held in Marion the weekend of Dec. 3-5. Taking part were Betty Parsons and Tom Taylor. Sessions of the conference will be held at Epworth Methodist church. It was announced, with reservation Friday, Dec. 3, at 5 p. m. The meeting is sponsored by the Ohio Christian Youth council with MYCM as host group.

A talk on Thanksgiving was by Rev. Ellis Guthrie. Prayer was by Dr. Edwin A. Brown, host pastor, and fellowship singing was led by Rev. Don Hochstettler, accompanied by Miss Martha Rayne. Date for the next MCYM luncheon was announced for Friday, Dec. 17, when a Christmas play and Christmas music will be the special features on the program.

Galion Kiwanis Club Hears District Officer

Special to The Star

GALION—Rev. B. R. Elliker, pastor of First Reformed church, and lieutenant-governor of Division 7 of the Ohio Kiwanis, addressed the Galion Kiwanis club at its luncheon-meeting, Tuesday, at Hotel Talbott.

He combined his annual Thanksgiving message to the club with his official visit as lieutenant-governor. His theme, "the Grateful Spirit," brought an inspiring message to the club.

"Kiwanis is a service organization, and the motto of the international club, 'We Build,' expresses our service to our fellowmen," the minister told his audience.

Visitors present for the meeting were Dr. Ernest Hesser of Crestline, and Carl Leslie, past president of the Crestline Kiwanis club.

King's Daughters Circle Entertained

Mrs. John Powell of Herman street was hostess when the Friendship circle of the King's Daughters entertained with a silver tea and guest party Tuesday night. Mrs. George Darling conducted devotions on a Thanksgiving theme and Mrs. Fern Riddle presided for a business session. Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held at Maplecrest Home, Bucyrus. Arrangements will be in charge of Mrs. Hester Harriman, Mrs. Darling and Mrs. Leona Sanderson. A basket also will be arranged for a needy family. Mrs. Lulu Spain was welcomed as a new member.

ERIE ASKS BIDS ON TRUST CERTIFICATES

Seek $4,850,000 To Finance New Equipment.

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25 — The Erie Railroad is inviting bids on $4,850,000 par value of equipment trust certificates to finance approximately 80 per cent of the cost of two 6,000-h.p. diesel freight locomotives, two 1,000-h.p. and two 600-h.p. diesel switchers, 1,000 fifty-ton hopper cars and 100 seventy-ton covered hopper cars, R. E. Woodruff, president, announced yesterday.

The total cost of the new equipment is approximately $6,000,000 and the company will cover the balance by a down payment of $1,150,000 from its treasury. Delivery of the diesel locomotives is expected in the first quarter of 1949 and the freight cars in January and February.

Bids are to be opened Dec. 8 and the successful bidder will be notified that day. The company has specified that no bid for less than 99 per cent of par plus accrued dividends will be considered. The bidder is to name the dividend rate.

The certificates are to be issued under an equipment trust agreement and will mature in 10 equal installments of $485,000 each, with dividends payable semi-annually.

Sale and issuance of the certificates are subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

Shovel Co. Paper Carries Article on New Factory

The recently-acquired branch plant of the Marion Power Shovel Co. located at Cambridge, O., where machine construction is now well under way, is featured in an article which gives an over-all picture of production and of many features of the plant in the November issue of "The Marion Way," a magazine published by and for the employes of the Marion Power Shovel Co.

The article, covering a little more than a page in the magazine, is illustrated with pictures of the plant, several departments in operation and head personnel of the plant.

Now producing two Type 7200 walking draglines per month, it is expected that next spring operations at the Cambridge plant will change to the production of one Type 7200 and one Type 7400 each month. Heretofore, both the Type 7200 and 7400 have been manufactured in the plant of a sub-contractor. The Type 7400 will continue to be built by the sub-contractor until production facilities at Cambridge have been sufficiently expanded to permit manufacture of both types there.

Builds Marion Parts

In addition to actual machine production, the Cambridge plant is handling pre-fabricating work for Marion Power Shovel Co.'s headquarters plant. This work mainly entails the welding of parts used in the manufacture of several machines in the company's line of excavating equipment. It is anticipated that the pre-fabricating work will increase in volume with the contemplated extension of welding facilities at Cambridge.

Located on the west edge of Cambridge, the plant covers an area of approximately 25 acres. It has 42 separate buildings, although all are not in use as yet.

Three manufacturing buildings which are being used have a floor area of over 100,000 square feet. One of these buildings is used for assembly and sub-assembly of machines, and another for the set-up and welding division and machine shop. The third building, which had been used for storage, is to be converted into a manufacturing division for such work as cutting, burning, pre-fabrication and lay-out. Two warehouses in use have over 21,000 square feet of floor space.

Owners of Property

The plant was leased by the Marion Power Shovel Co. in February 1948, from the Community Industrial Association, a local organization of businessmen and other individuals interested in promoting increased industrial development in Cambridge. The company occupied the plant shortly afterwards, and production operations were commenced during the summer.

The plant was originally operated by the Carnegie Sheet Mill, which discontinued operations several years ago. The property was then purchased by the Community Industrial Association. The next owner was the U. S. government, which procured the plant for the processing of tire rims by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. The plant remained the property of the War Assets Administration until the CIA opened negotiations for the purchase.

Since leasing the plant the most difficult phase of rehabilitation and conversion was the construction of a large assembly pit measuring 155 feet long, 55 feet wide and 7 feet deep.

Many new machine tools and other important pieces of plant equipment have been obtained by the company for the processing of structural materials at the Cambridge plant, including lathes, milling machines, a Do-All Deep Throated saw, a brake press, bonding roll, various types of drill presses and large shears. Several heavy crane also have been acquired for the handling of parts.

Offices at the Cambridge plant also have been redecorated.

Bastian in Charge

Plant manager of the Cambridge plant is Paul J. Bastian, who has had over 30 years' experience in production and manufacturing work. From 1916 to 1945, he was with the Wright Aeronautical Corporation in Buffalo, N. Y., and Paterson, N. J. While with Wright, he served as assistant general foreman, production manager and manufacturing manager.

In 1945, he became associated with the Watson Flagg Machine Co. of Paterson, N. J., as production manager. He then went with Tyson Roller Bearing Corp. of Massillon, O., as vice president in charge of operation. He became associated with the Marion Power Shovel Co. in 1946 as manager of subcontracting.

Also pictured along with the following men: Robert MacLeod, production control manager; Robert Kist, plant superintendent; Russel Simmons, assistant plant superintendent; Roy Strasenburgh, chief accountant and Fred Creighton, personnel director. Approximately 100 persons are employed at the Cambridge plant.

A plant dedication program was held in September at which time talks were given by officials and executives of the company including Harvey T. Gracely, president and general manager, and John M. Dempsey, vice president and sales manager.

Also presented in the current issue of the "Shovel" in one of a series of sketches of Marion Power Shovel Co. personalities, is Rollo L. "Red" Shrock, assistant service manager, who has been with the company nearly 40 years. Mr. Shrock started to work for the company in June 1909, in the machinery and shop equipment maintenance department in charge of that phase of the work. In September 1909 he was transferred to the engineering department and soon was placed in charge of steam boiler design. His next step was to the service and erection department, in which he still is employed.

Also pictured in the magazine is Vernon L. Long, an employe of the company's tin shop, who is known with his prize-winning coon dog, "Tarbaby." His dog has won 19 championship awards in 1948 in coon dog field trial events in eight states. Handling dogs in field trials has been Mr. Long's hobby for five years.

"Tarbaby," now 5 years old, is declared to be one of the top coon dogs in the United States. By winning a "champion of champions" event at Larwill, Ind., on Oct. 24, this year, "Tarbaby" has the title of "Grand Champion Tree Dog of the Midwest Field Trials Circuit," which covers an area comprising the counties of northwest Ohio and northeast Indiana.

Mr. Long has another dog in training, Guiding Light, a brown and white hound two years old last Jan. 2. He trains his dogs [illegible] and Walker hound.

Bethlehem Football Talent Mine

By The Associated Press

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Few major college coaches looking for good football talent don't have to look much farther than Bethlehem High.

Forty-four graduates of Bethlehem High, coached by Charley Bachman, Penn's All-American center, can be found on football rosters of 13 colleges.

Former Bethlehem players are at the home state schools as Morris on Lehigh, Lafayette, Penn and Penn & Franklin & Marshall. Outside the Keystone State Rutgers claims two ex-Bell cheer Wake Forest, Bethany, Notre Dame, Virginia Military Institute, Wittenberg, Princeton and Brown each one.

While Bednarik claims most of the headlines with his sensational play for Penn other fine performers drawing more than a minor share of weekend plaudits include such as Carl Leibert, brilliant Princeton halfback Eddie Finn, smart Brown quarterback Frank Weaver one of the top small college backs at Moravian, John Schweder, a big Penn guard,

MAXIM, BIVINS SIGN FOR CLEVELAND BOUT

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25 — Joey Maxim and Jimmy Bivins have signed for their main event bout here Dec. 3, it was announced yesterday.

The 12-rounder, heavyweight battle of ring standing after the champ and the No. 3 ranker on the 23rd annual Cleveland News Christmas fund show drawing card as it featured a left hand vs. a Philadelphia fight result.

A crowd of 10,000 is expected against the Ohio heavyweights. Bivins was moved up to number six position among heavyweight ratings Tuesday by boxing pundits. Gives Maxim fifth ranking heavyweight in the nation.

Bivins eked out a split decision on his one previous meeting with Maxim in 1942.

Top attraction on the card will be the 6-rounder match of newly crowned featherweight champion Sandy Saddler against Eddie Glova.

Job-Hunting Days Are Over for Chisox Chief

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Some people can change a job overnight. Take Jack Onslow for instance. Two years ago he was looking for a job and Abbott Sports headquarters in Boston.

Onslow didn't even have a coat for the series between the Red Sox and Cards as he had trouble getting into Red Sox press headquarters.

This fall was different. Just before the 1948 series started between the Braves and Cleveland Indians, people were asking Onslow for a job. He had just been appointed manager of the Chicago White Sox.

The former Detroit and New York Giant pitcher next spring gets his first fling at managing a big league club at the age of 39.

Two-Year Hitch

He rose to the top after a two-year hitch in the White Sox chain. In the spring of 1947 he was a White Sox scout and tagged along to Pasadena, Calif., for spring training. A few weeks later he was named manager of the Waterloo, Iowa, Arctic aaks in the Three I League.

Onslow let the club to the and this spring he managed the Memphis Chicks, the White Sox Southern Association team. The Chicks finished one game behind the Atlanta Crackers.

One of the players he had was Hal Mulcahy. "When the season was over

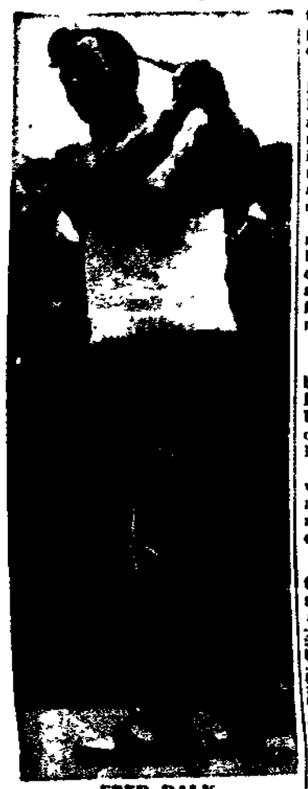
Ranking British Golfer Seeks Ryder Cup Revenge



FRED DALY
Won Three Tourneys

By The Associated Press

LONDON — Fred Daly, a happy-go-lucky Irishman, stroked his way to the top in British golf this season against a score of invading Americans and other foreign stars.

With an 18-year-old putter and a whistle on his lips, he led professional money winners by capturing three first prizes, four seconds, a fourth and two fifths.

His steady shooting was the top individual feat in the 15-tournament season that saw the foreign invasion stemmed and great improvement in the averages by British pros. Although a wearer of the green, Daly rates as a local since he comes from northern Ireland, part of the United Kingdom, and is eligible for the British Ryder Cup golf team.

British Improving

Sixty-two men got under an average of 75 strokes in tournament rounds. Only a dozen were that good two seasons ago. This improvement is kindling hope that the Britons are regaining form that will enable them to put up a good show against the Americans in the Ryder Cup matches here next September.

If that Ryder Cup team were picked now, Daly would certainly head it. He would be revenge-bound, too, being on the 1947 team that lost 11 matches to one in Portland, Ore.

An ex-caddy, Fred came out of the navy blue that season to capture the British Open and match play championships, top prizes on the island.

Skeptics said he was a flash in the pan, his win but a fluke. Daly, a 146-pounder in his prime at 35, answered by retaining the match play title and barely missing repeating in the open. He was runnerup to Henry Cotton with an admirable display of consistent play.

His earnings from 10 tournaments in which he was fifth or better were about $9,400, an unofficial figure since the professional golfers' association refuses to release incomes of its members.

Fears St. Andrews

Daly proved himself, however, by joining golfing greats like Bobby Jones, the greatest of all U. S. amateurs, in accusing the old course at St. Andrews, Scotland, of being a heartbreaker.

"This is definitely my last visit," declared Daly after carding a 74 and 77 one day. "You might as well try to play around corners as find the holes here."

Only six seniors are listed on the University of Alabama's 46-man football squad. Twenty-six are sophomores and 14 are juniors.

You Sportsmen Already Know—

NEW YORK—It goes without saying that experienced sportsmen like yourselves know:

That one sweep of a grizzly's paw can crush the skull of a range bull;

That buffalos itch a great deal in summer and have been known to knock over telegraph poles with their scratching;

That caribou are the only members of the deer family in which both the male and the female are antlered;

That Rocky Mountain goats are not really goats but a type of antelope;

That red squirrels are the gray squirrels' most vicious enemy and frequently emasculate them in battle;

That grey foxes and red foxes have a different bone structure;

That baby skunks, when tamed, are more affectionate than kittens;

That otters can be tamed to retrieve ducks, like buddogs;

That canvasback ducks have been clocked from airplanes at 72 miles an hour;

That polar bears are the only truly aquatic bears and use only their forelegs when swimming.

These notes are from the first "Hunter's Encyclopedia" (Stackpole & Heck, Inc.) ever produced in this country. It's a reference for all phases of hunting. Sixty big game authorities tell the story of all game animals and birds and all pertinent facts and stories of North America.

Martin expects about 15 of h[illegible] men will be "likely contenders" [illegible] spots on the 45-man varsity [illegible] next year.

He [illegible] a pair of passing [illegible] with [illegible] who may fill the hole [illegible] by the graduation of Navy's [illegible] two gridders next spring.

Two-hundred pound Bob Z[illegible] a 19-year-old sidearm [illegible] from Algoma, Wis., has been [illegible] long 50-yard passes for touchd[illegible] this fall. Mike S[illegible]ren[illegible] 19 of Sharon Hill, Pa., has shown himself a good thrower and ca[illegible] carrier too. Both are experienced in the T-formation taught by Coach George Sauer at Navy.

Graduation will hit Army's [illegible] hard at center and Martin thinks he has two pretty big plebes who have a chance—Bill Benson of Rome, Ga., and Walt Schifferle of Rutherford, N. J.

Among some fine ends Martin lists 19-year-old Pat McDonald of Fort Collins, Col., as a very alert player on defense" who also owns "a good pair of hands" for snaring touchdown passes.

Building up depth for a varsity which has suffered from a lack of reserves, Martin has used three full teams in play. He hopes to turn over a wealth of potential new starters to Sauer in spring practice. Lack of depth says Martin, shows up in the second half of the ball game," as undermanned Navy has found out in the past three years.

The plebes, used on defense in occasional scrimmages against the varsity, haven't had too much [illegible]

Navy Still Dangerous, Army Warns—Middies Have 7 Vets of '46 Tussle

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK — 'Make A ... this Navy team? The ... e the toughest sched- ... em ever had. Don't let ... ou Army is a cinch to ... e Middies Navy has about ... a team it had in 1946 when ... ost beat us.

... one of the civilians from ... isn't talking and what he ... says made sense.

Good Team, But . . .

"This year's Army team is a ... d team but don't let anybody ... Head Coach Earl Blaik thinks ... better than the 1945 team. We ... n't have any Doc Blanchard or ... Davis. The trouble with ... of the people today is that ... their memories are too short."

A number of writers have been comparing the performances of Gil Stephenson Army's 183-pound sophomore back, from Columbus, Ga., with the feats of Blanchard and the West Point official family fails to see eye to eye with this opinion.

A check of the 1946 game in which Army beat Navy 21-18 because the Middies failed to kick three extra points and because time ran out on a furious last period Navy attack, reveals that the West Point citizen wasn't talking through his hat.

Navy has lost through graduation only four of the players who started that memorable game. Army has lost three. Among the Navy backs who will see action Saturday are Reaves Baysinger Jr., Bob Horne, Pistol Pete Williams, Bill Hawkins, Alvin McCully, Bill Earl, Jim Green and Jim Wills. Most of them played—and starred—in the '46 Army game. All were on the squad.

Good on Passes

Hawkins and Baysinger each scored one touchdown. Though Navy has lost all eight games this fall with Baysinger and Horne throwing passes from the winged-T used by Coach George Sauer the Middies are among the top five ground gaining teams in the East when it comes to forward passing.

Of the 45 members on the 1946 Navy squad, 26 are back. For Baysinger, Horne, McCully and others it will be their last football game.

Army, too, loses a number of veterans. Nineteen of their players wind up their football careers. Thirteen of these are slated to see action. They are Bert Aton, Frank Barnes, Tom Bullock, Rudy Cosentuno, Sal Fastuca, Phil Feir, Joe Henry, Davis Parrish, Jim Rawers, Winfield Scott, John Shelley, Bobby Jack Stuart and Captain Bill Yeoman, crack center who is a brilliant backer-up on defense.

Marysville Drilling For Opener Dec. 3

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 25 — Coach Warren Widner of Marysville high is drilling the Monarch cagers in preparation for the season opener against London here Dec. 3. Back from last year's co-champions of the Central district John Dayton 6-3 guard. Widner will build his team around Dayton and seven other boys who were members of last season's strong reserve squad. They are Harold Hinderer, Bill Boyd, Loren Grimes and Bill Worthington. Juniors Chrisea McCracken, Buddy Hoffman and John Evans, sophomores.

The University of Mississippi played its first night football game on Oct. 18, 1929, in New Orleans with the Rebels outscoring Loyola, 26-24.

Cage Triple-Header Set For New Bloomington

A basketball triple-header will be on the bill of fare for New Bloomington fans Friday night. The varsity will take on Green Camp, the reserves will play the Green Camp second stringers, and New Bloomington junior high will meet Grand Prairie junior high. Both New Bloomington and Green Camp are in the Marion County league but the game is non-loop contest.

Battle Royal Tonight

The Thanksgiving Menu at the armory tonight will be a battle royal between five of the best grapplers in the game, they are Steve Nenoff the big Bulgarian, Dutch Schultz the tall Texan, Dale Wayne the bad boy from Detroit, Joe Wolfe the popular Columbus boy and Al Alexander the American Junior Heavyweight Champ. All five will enter the ring right after the ten minute prelim and after the battle royal there will be two other matches according to how they make out in the battle royal. It's a swell program to follow up your Thanksgiving Holiday so don't miss it.

Bradley McKinnis and Darrell Darnell, two local youths, will start the action at 8:30. Prices 50-75-1.00. Call after six-thirty for seats.—Adv.

STOCKS SLIP TO NEW POST-ELECTION LOW

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—A fresh selling spell yesterday carried the stock market to a new low level since the post-election break.

Around $1,000,000,000 of the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange was wiped out. The volume of business expanded as prices started to slide and the day's turnover ran well past 1,000,000 shares.

Wall Street quarters said much of the selling was due to disappointment because last week's rally failed to get anywhere. Selling for tax purposes was rated as another source of pressure.

Acting as a brake on demand, these quarters said, was uncertainty over the policies of the new administration on such matters as taxes and profits.

Many issues dropped to new low prices for the year. Among them were Chrysler, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Pepsi-Cola, International Telephone, and Western Union.

MARKETS CLOSED TODAY

Thanksgiving Story

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — TRELLIS MAE PEEBLE decided this year to have a different Thanksgiving.

"We've always been so selfish before," she told her husband Wilbur. "I want you to go down to the Bowery and find one of those nice old bums, and bring him here for dinner.

"I know he'll appreciate a good home-cooked meal."

Somewhat dubiously, Wilbur agreed. So early Thanksgiving morning he set out for the Bowery, while Trellis Mae undertook her cooking chores.

Hal Boyle

When Wilbur, hours later, returned and dismounted from a cab, followed by an elderly bum, the apartment house doorman greeted him cheerfully.

"Well, Mr. Peebles, is your father-in-law here for the holiday?"

Wilbur har-r-r-umphed and [illegible] up to the Peebles [illegible]

Trellis Mae [illegible] "This is Rocky" [illegible] Rocky [illegible] "He's the nicest I could find."

Rocky was a trunky old man who [illegible] clothes [illegible] A pair of socks had left out on a battlefield in the Civil War. But his white hair and red face were scrubbed clean.

"Howdy, lady," he said.

"Make yourself at home," said Trellis Mae. "Dinner'll be right on the table."

Rocky tossed his shabby hat on a desk and sat down in Wilbur's easy chair. Then he picked up a paper and turned to the racing results. Wilbur sat on the edge of a love seat and watched him.

WHEN THE TURKEY, brown and [illegible] was brought in, they all sat down together, and Wilbur said jovially:

"What'll you have, Rocky, a drumstick?"

"No," said Rocky. "I'd rather have some white meat."

He took a bite from his plate. "What kind of dressing is this?" he asked.

"Chestnut," said Trellis Mae, anxiously. "Don't you like it?"

"Oh, it's all right," Rocky conceded. "I guess it's just as good as oyster dressing — if you like it."

He ate two heaping plates and also had an extra piece of mince pie. Then they all sat back and relaxed.

"Do you come from a large family, Mr. Rocky?" said Trellis Mae.

"Sure. They was six of us kids. I was the baby."

"I suppose they are pretty scattered now."

"No, ma'am," said Rocky. "They're all together—in heaven. All except me."

There was an uncomfortable silence, and then Rocky continued:

"Well, now I suppose you want to know about my life. Most of 'em do that buys you a feed. There ain't much to my story. I'm just a poor weak old man that had a mean wife."

THERE WAS A longer silence. Finally Rocky said:

"I guess it's time for me to go."

At the door he whispered to Wilbur, and Wilbur reached toward his pocket. When her husband came back, Trellis Mae said accusingly:

"You gave him some money."

Bring the Whole Family to
TUROFF'S
For The Most Delicious
THANKSGIVING DINNER

On this gay and festive day we invite you to enjoy a traditionally bountiful dinner. America's finest young tender birds—roasted until their savory meat seems almost ready to fall away—held together only by the brown crispness of the outer skin—sweet tender slices of white and dark meat of these prize quality turkeys, generous portions of Turoff's special dressing, a rich giblet gravy and cranberry sauce, rich red in color, adds its touch of stimulating tart sweetness.

Plan to make this Thanksgiving Day a real treat for every member of the family.

Turoff Bros. and associates THANK YOU this Thanksgiving Day.

TRUCK ORDERS NOT SO GREAT

Builders Beginning To Catch Up on Backlog of Heavy Type Vehicles.

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's truck builders are beginning to catch up on their backlog of orders for heavy trucks but are still behind in filling them.

Light truck orders are in short supply and are being filled at the rate of three-quarters of the number ordered.

Deliveries of medium and heavy duty trucks are at about the same rate as last year. Orders for these trucks are as hard to get as are passenger automobiles.

The situation with respect to commercial vehicles is unprecedented in vehicle history. In many ways it overshadows the passenger car business in market possibilities.

The continuing demand for trucks of course reflects the widespread use of these vehicles as cargo movers in increasing door-to-door deliveries, and the fact few of them were built for civilian use during the war.

Record Production

Commercial vehicle production has been running into record proportions during the last three years. In 1946 output totaled 940,851 units, while 239,642 were built last year. The 1948 production will come close to 1,360,000. Already this year the truck makers have topped last year's assemblies.

The aggregate for 1946 through 1948 will exceed the total of any five years prior to 1941. The latter year [illegible] more than 900,000 units in the all-time record. Note is taken of this golden era in a highway transportation [illegible] issue of the Commercial Car Journal published by the Chilton Co. and just off the presses.

The issue reviews the history of truck production and use, contains many statistical information concerning vehicle assemblies, the specifications and other data of the truck and bus business generally. The jubilee issue reports there are 5,250,000 trucks and combinations and an estimated 450,000 trailers now in use on the nation's highways.

Besides producing in record volume the truck makers also can take credit for the heavy overall output of motor vehicles by the nation's automotive industry.

This year's total vehicle output [illegible] '80'

To Give Thanks

GRATITUDE is a fleeting state of mind for most of us. A day of thanksgiving is needed, to bring the reasons for gratitude into focus and hold them there.

But it shouldn't require a national holiday to move Americans to give thanks for their common blessings. The blessings are manifest throughout the year.

We are all of us members of a free society with a charter of human dignity unequalled in the world. We are free to agree, to disagree, to go as far toward our aspirations as our abilities can carry us, or to go nowhere at all if we choose.

We are citizens of a powerful nation whose purposes are a fair reflection of the qualities we cherish as individuals—generosity toward others, diligence in the performance of duties bestowed on us in accordance with capacity to perform them, faith in our destiny and, what is more important, faith in the brotherhood of man which has marked out that destiny for us. Americans do not aspire to rule others, but to help others learn how to govern themselves.

We have an abundance of material things. We have the grace to understand that merely possessing such things is not the aim of human existence. We are endowed with a great tolerance and a sense of humor that has saved us from arrogance and pride. All these things we have earned, not always with knowledge of what we were doing, but always with the humility of the Pilgrims observing the first American thanksgiving—to give thanks for the divine guidance that had made fruitful their first efforts to deserve a better way of living on a new continent.

Facts Speak Louder

THE FEDERAL reserve board, which deals with economic facts as it sees them, is in apparent disagreement with the campaign orators of the Democratic party, who recently were dealing with economic facts as they wanted to see them.

For example, the federal reserve board says in its current bulletin that without heavy exports of goods to Europe and military expansion the inflationary period already would have ended. There would be, in other words, the beginning of a recession.

But a few days ago at Key West, Representative Rayburn said in a post-election burst of campaign oratory that the only thing which would cause a recession would be some man-made force, meaning a bearish attitude on the part of business.

Mr. Rayburn, it is apparent, was trying to shift blame in advance for something that might happen. But the federal reserve board was merely acknowledging what already has happened; namely, that the tug of war between supply and demand is gradually being won by supply; that only foreign aid and rearmament are supporting inflation, which is the result of too few goods and too much money.

This doesn't mean that supply and demand are about to come into approximate balance. It doesn't mean that supply is going to overwhelm demand. But it does mean that forces vastly stronger than the vagrant winds of campaign oratory are at work and can be depended on to embarrass politicos who were lately boasting that they had everything under tight personal control and would see to it that all the blessings of the boom would be preserved intact ad infinitum. Ad infinitum is a long time.

Mellow With Age

THE ripe old age of the incoming Democratic administration will get more attention with the approach of inauguration day in January. Besides the advanced years of the party's new committee chairmen in congress there can be no doubt that the presidential succession is going to be mellow with age too. There is nothing necessarily bad about this, but it might become awkward in the event of the missing heart beat which can undo the plans of men.

President Truman will be 65 next May 8, which makes him the youngest member in the executive succession. Next is the new vice president, Senator Barkley, who will be 71 on the 24th of this month. The man who would follow Barkley in the order of succession which became law in 1947 is Representative Sam Rayburn, who will be the new speaker of the house of representatives. Rayburn will be 67 next Jan. 6.

The president pro tem of the senate is next in line, and that seems likely to be an honor bestowed on Senator McKellar who will be 80 on Jan. 29. George C. Marshall, if he continues as secretary of state, is next. He will be 69 on Dec. 31. While there seems to be a fair chance of being wrong about men of advanced years in key posts, it's rare to find so many key posts occupied by men who would have reached the retirement deadline in most private employment.

Did You Know

Under an ancient law, the only names permitted to be recorded in the civil registers of France as Christian names of children were those of saints on the calendar and those persons known in ancient history. Vestiges of this custom [illegible]

Thanksgiving, 1948

By George E. Sokolsky

LET us turn away from our private and public grievances, our little or unrequited hopes and give thanks on this day to the God of our fathers that He has permitted us to live in this free land where each individual human being forms the pattern of his life by his own will and conscience uncontrolled by government, unfettered by power.

In a world returning to a human bondage to the master and slave, the ruler and the ruled, the controlled and the free, this island of liberty is a necessity for those who nurture within freedom and who recognize that the grace of God makes them so that they may enjoy the dignity of personality, the essence of human existence, which is to live within the margins of moral law, to know right from wrong and to do right, not because of fear of the law, but because of love of God.

• • •

DIFFERING from those during [illegible] an unlikely war [illegible] upon our coast an unwarning harbor, we, of this generation, have in no small measure met our way. We suffer the sin of prideful conscience, assuming that we are trusted instruments that can truly measure the universe even to the composition of the atom. We possess all knowledge and therefore no longer require moral guidance.

We gaze upon ourselves in awe and no longer look toward Heaven to see Him of whom we are but an image. We have come so to believed in man that we defy him and often defy ourselves in our own minds. We glorify the image, not the creator. We speak of men thrown up by the fortunes of poverty or politics, of distress or war or revolution as though they were gods in their day, mangods to be adulated while they live, and commemorated after they die.

• • •

YET THE SUM TOTAL of their lives is as nothing compared with the awe-inspiring greatness of man's achievements upon this earth. Who brought to us the use of fire that we may cease to be prey and fear savages? Who conceived the greatest of all institutions, the family? Who taught man the deep love of charity, of pity, of compassion, of neighborliness? Who gave man the wheel, the sharp-edged tools, the capacity to create a home, to paint a picture to make music, to think in terms of universals? Who gave man speech, even a tower of babel of languages nevertheless, speech that conveys not only wants and needs but ideas and thoughts and prayers?

It is in this spirit of humility for all that we have come before us that we have deserted the ways of our fathers, but breaking over against confusion of these ideas and the lure of material things we have remained true to the core concept that brought us into existence, the concept of liberty.

• • •

FOR IT IS LIBERTY alone of [illegible] speech or conscience that makes America different from [illegible] and about it are the [illegible] ba[illegible] the breakdown of controlled existence. Our strength lies in that we recognize our liberties not as the gift of the government but as a charter from the state for a compromise between the ruler and the ruled—but as a gift from God as the inalienable right of the individual human being, his by divine right out of nature's laws.

This is the essential philosophy of American life. As we depart from it, we depart from that spiritual America which for more than three centuries has been the sanctuary for the oppressed, the weary, the heavy-laden. As we substitute such concepts as "the general welfare" for the nobler moral law to guide the individual to responsibility and obligation, we approach closer to that socialization that always ends in human slavery.

And so, God of our fathers, we give thanks on this day that we have preserved our traditions, our institutions, our beliefs and our liberties. Give us the wisdom and strength never to betray or desert them.

Promises and Potatoes

By Raymond Moley

THE first big problem of agricultural surpluses has been met by a post-election announcement by the administration of a reduction in the support price of potatoes. This announcement is hedged by the fact that the reduction, from 90 per cent of parity to 60 per cent, will not be effective until the 1949 crop year. But it is a stiff warning to potato farmers and a rather faint promise of lower prices for consumers.

The humble potato has been a political headache for three years. In 1946 there was a considerable over-supply. The commodities credit corporation bought part of the crop to help support the support price. Distillers were urged to buy potatoes for conversion into liquor.

• • •

THIS IDEA was not happily greeted by distillers, because the American market does not react favorably to potato liquor. Perhaps this is due to habit rather than to the character of the liquor itself. Europe knows how to make and apparently likes to drink potato-made liquor. Russian vodka is largely a product of potatoes. The excellent Irish whisky is mainly a potato product. European countries have other versions of potato stimulants. But corn-fed America prefers something else.

When Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was in office he attempted a bold experiment with potato flour for overseas relief. The cost of this product was high—25 cents a pound. Europeans were unwilling to pay such a price. UNRRA Director La Guardia spurned the stuff, saying that at best he could offer only 1 cent a pound.

Despite these efforts at relief, the support bill in 1947 was $39,500,000 on a crop of 385,000,000 bushels.

• • •

THE 1948 CROP jumped to 432,000,000 bushels. Again, the potato-flour experiment was attempted, at the same high 25-cent price. The CCC bought some for relief feeding in Germany. But this year we have an ample supply of wheat which, converted into meal, costs only seven cents a pound and has a higher nutrition value. Present estimates are that the cost to the treasury for this year's crop will be more than $100,000,000.

The Aiken act of 1948 provided that most agricultural products cannot be reduced from the 90 per cent support level before 1950. There seems to be a possibility for a reduction for the 1949 potato crop. However, the Aiken legislation says, "Irish potatoes harvested after Dec. 31, 1949, are to be supported at no less than 60 per cent or more than 90 per cent of the parity price." This means that the present announcement applies only to potatoes which are harvested in 1949.

• • •

IS THAT EARLY warning meant to mean that farmers should plan before then to turn potato land into land for other commodities? On the other hand, that stalwart exponent of higher farm prices at any cost, Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, prospective senate agriculture committee chairman, pledges a support price at no less than 90 per cent.

The administration's potato announcement is a plain admission that glowing campaign promises cannot permanently stand against natural forces. Both sides in the late campaign plentifully baited their hooks with promises to the farmers. Both knew when they did so that bad news was inevitable. And now the side whose bait was most visible and tangible, having won the election, must find means of relief. For potatoes are not the only crop which threatens a surplus.

Setback for Amendment

From the Charlotte Observer

SINCE both the United States Senate and House have passed from Republican to Democratic control, it is to be expected that the new congress will be cool toward the proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college as such and provide that each candidate for president shall receive the same percentage of the electoral vote as of the popular vote in each state.

The proposal, sponsored jointly by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (R) of Massachusetts and Representative Ed Gossett (D) of Texas, would abolish the system by which the presidential candidate receiving a majority or a plurality of a state's popular vote is given all of its electoral vote.

Had the proposed amendment been in effect prior to the recent election, Governor Dewey would have received a considerably larger number of electoral votes and President Truman would have received fewer. In fact, in view of the extremely close division on the popular vote, it would have been almost a toss-up as to which received the majority of the electoral vote. Instead of getting 304 electoral votes, Mr. Truman might not have received more than the barest necessary majority of 266.

In the 1948 election, the present electoral system worked to Mr. Truman's advantage.

[illegible] reason it is unlikely [illegible] Democratic Congress [illegible] to submit the proposed amendment to the states for ratification, even though the judiciary committees of both houses of the 80th Congress approved it unanimously and in the long run it would benefit one party just as much and as often as the other.

Perhaps the strongest argument in its favor is that it would make the votes of all the people in all the states more important to the candidates of all parties and the votes of comparatively small minority groups in large and strategic states relatively less important. Under the proposed change, the votes of any persons or group anywhere would be as important to the candidates as those of any other persons or groups.

King for a Day

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 25, 1938. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was said by Chinese sources to have expressed dissatisfaction to the British ambassador over Great Britain's far eastern policies and to have hinted strongly that the time for a showdown had arrived.

A huge parade, viewed by approximately 3,500 onlookers, provided a gala setting for the formal opening of the Christmas season in Marion.

Routed by the ringing of a service bell, an intruder who entered the John Dugan home on Bellefontaine avenue made a hurried exit with loot that included no more than two pieces of pie.

Mrs. D. W. Murphy, 75, died suddenly at her home on North Prospect street.

Miss Betty Roberts and Miss Ruth Long, student nurses at Mt. Sinai hospital, Western Reserve university, Cleveland, were spending the Thanksgiving holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald M. Roberts of Girard avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Long of Chestnut street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Nov. 25, 1928. King George of England was critically ill but the latest report was that he had shown some improvement.

Mrs. Ella Peak Willey died at her home near Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Brown and Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Stephenson entertained at dinner at the Stephenson home honoring Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cook and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Crook of Lancaster, visitors in Marion.

A company of friends and relatives was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mahaffey on Harding Highway west in celebration of Mr. Mahaffey's seventy-first birthday anniversary.

A group of young people was entertained with a dinner party by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorsey at their home on South Vine street, celebrating the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Miss Helen Dorsey.

Miss Mary Howison of Forest street and Miss Nellie McPeek of Bruce avenue visited Miss Mildred Clark, student nurse at Jane Case hospital at Delaware.

No Law Needed

Since election day there has been some talk about regulating public opinion polls. Apparently this would be done to punish the opinion-testers for predicting wrongly.

But what is a public opinion poll? The answer is that it is a composite expression of opinion, obtained and interpreted by specialists. As such it is protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution. Any citizen has a constitutional right to tell another citizen, or a group of them, what he thinks; he may tell them orally or in print; or he may question any number of them and then state, orally or in print, what he thinks is meant by what they say they think.

It has been suggested that the opinion-testers be required to state how many persons they have interviewed—that is, why they think and say what they say. But if any citizen can be compelled to give the reasons for his opinions so can all citizens; so can newspapers, so can clergymen; so can individuals who put one foot on a brass rail and express themselves for the benefit of all who care to listen. And this compulsion, too, would not be possible under the Constitution.

No law is needed to punish those who make predictions that are quickly proven wrong. The opinion-testers have already suffered more than words can tell, without any law, or any law except natural law. Some of the rest of us, who took the predictions too seriously, have suffered, too. And these groans mean that the situation is under control and will correct itself.—The New York Times.

U. S. Bond Values

By Mark Sullivan

WASHINGTON

THE government, through widespread campaigns, sell U. S. savings bonds to the public. Some 75 million persons now hold them. These bonds are sound. The promises made in them are scrupulously kept. Every buyer of a bond will get back the number of dollars promised, with the interest promised, at the time promised or when the bond-holder asks for them.

Further than that, the widespread sale of these bonds is in the public interest. Granted that the government must borrow money, borrowing it from individual purchasers of savings bonds is better than borrowing it from banks. For the savings bonds are kept in the hands of those who buy them, they are, so to speak, sterilized; while government borrowing from banks sets in motion an expansion of active credit, which, under present conditions, tends to increase cost of living and inflation. In the interest of the government and of the people as a whole, it is desirable that buying of savings bonds be encouraged. To that end, and in every respect, it is desirable that the experience of those who buy the bonds be satisfactory to them.

• • •

IT IS NOT ENOUGH that the bond buyer get back the number of dollars he paid, as he always will. He deserves also that the dollar he gets back should have the same purchasing power, should buy the same amount of goods, approximately at least, as when he paid them for the bond. Granted that some unavoidable condition, especially war, may reduce the purchasing power of the dollar, the bond buyer remains entitled to assume that the government will not in peace time follow policies which reduce the dollar's purchasing power. This assumption the government has not lived up to.

Omit the part of the reduction in dollar purchasing power between April 1945, and today is expressed in many statistics, varying somewhat with different lines of goods and in different sections of the country. Besides, statistics are figures, they are not concrete, they are not goods. The drop in dollar purchasing power between April, 1945 and today can be made concrete by showing it in terms of goods.

• • •

HAD PRESIDENT TRUMAN, on the day he took office, looked at advertisements of food prices in the Washington Post, he would have found, among other things, these typical items:

Butter, 48 cents a pound.
Potatoes, 37 cents per 10-pound sack.
Leg of lamb, 39 cents a pound.
Flour, 55 cents per 10-pound sack.

And had Mr. Truman looked at the corresponding advertisements last week, he would have found the following prices for the same items:

Butter, 73 cents a pound.
Potatoes, 59 cents per 10-pound sack.
Leg of lamb, 59 cents a pound.
Flour, 69 cents per 10-pound sack.

About the causes of these rises in prices of food, doubtless Mr. Truman would make an argument of a sort, he did during the campaign. For the present purpose, however, omit all that. What we are seeking in these figures is the experience of a bond-holder who bought his bond in April, 1945. In paying $18.75 for a bond, he paid, in terms of goods roughly 50 10-pound sacks of potatoes; and so, with variations as to the other items. And if he turned in his bond last week he got back only 36 sacks, and so as to the other items.

• • •

OMITTING contentious argument about causes, a chief duty upon Mr. Truman as he begins his new administration is to discontinue any policies or practices which may have caused increase in cost of living and thus worked detriment to bond-holders; to see to it that so far as possible the bond-holder gets back as much purchasing power as he paid in. The widespread distribution of bonds is precious, both to the buyers and in the public interest, and deserves safeguards in proportion to its preciousness.

A THANKSGIVING holiday dance will be held by the Twenty Thirty club Friday evening at Columbian hall. Glenn Johnson and his orchestra will play for dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore are chairmen of the host and hostess committee and assisting are Mr. and Mrs. William Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. George Sakel and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Joy.

MRS. CHARLES SNIDER of 140 Johnson street was hostess when the Altrurian club met Monday afternoon. Mrs. O. J. Ricker conducted the devotions and for roll call the members gave Thanksgiving quotations. Mrs. A. M. Hornby gave a reading, "Why Worry." Mrs. John Hall and Mrs. Pearl Thatcher were welcomed as new members. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by her daughter, Miss Dorothy Snider. When the members meet in two weeks it will be for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. H. N. Geddis, 305 Summit street.

A personal shower was given for Mrs. Cloyd E. French and daughter, Carolyn Sue, by a group of friends Saturday afternoon at the French home at 306 West Columbia street. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Freda Shaffstall and Mrs. Donald Brewer. The afternoon was spent socially with games and contests.

Those present were Mrs. Bertha Leucht of Little Sandusky, Mrs. James Beard, Mrs. Glen Harris, Mrs. Freda Shaffstall and Darienne of Marion, Mrs. Jack Vaughn and children of Monnette, Mrs. Karl Nichol and Linda of Caledonia, Mrs. Clifford Harris, Misses Rosie and Carol Harris of Cardington, Miss Bonita Fiechter of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Grace Wimer, Miss Delores Wimer, Mrs. Elton Brewer and Joan, Mrs. Donald Brewer and children, all of Harpster.

The Ye Pastyme club observed its tenth anniversary recently when an annual Thanksgiving dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith near Green Camp. Twelve members and 21 guests were present.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Norman Roetger and son, John, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Annette Jr., Clyde Beaver, Otto Bosse, Ray Monnette, Raymond Dreyer, Reid Epley, Charles Jones, George Sorreles, Floyd Wolfinger, Robert Weston, Marvin Weston, Kenneth Johnston, Shirley Ann Johnston, Pamela and Patricia Wolfinger and Linda Sue Weston.

"Current Events" were given in response to roll call at a meeting of the Arts and Crafts club of Waldo Wednesday evening, Nov. 17 at the home of Mrs. R. F. Copeland on Prospect street. Members were present. Mrs. Lee Grist conducted devotions and a gift box was won by Mrs. Harley Moser. The Christmas meeting will be Dec. 15 at Green Acres Inn. At this time a basket will be filled for a needy family and secret sisters will be revealed in a gift exchange. For the program, Mrs. Grist showed movies of vacation trips. Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Dor Huntsman and Mrs. Walter Carder. Guests were Mrs. W. W. Wanamaker and Mrs. Grice. A New Years party will be held by the club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Clark on East Center street.

Mrs. Frank Warren, who was Miss Isabelle Smith of Waldo before her recent marriage, was complimented with a shower when Miss Esther Click entertained Friday evening, Nov. 19, at her home at 757 Merkel avenue.

Mrs. Warren, first grade teacher at Prospect, became the bride of Frank Warren of Columbus on Saturday, Oct. 16. They are residing at 512 East Beechwold boulevard in Columbus.

Guests present with Mrs. Warren were Mrs. Harold Young, Mrs. John Dix, Mrs. Kathryn Moore, Mrs. J. A. Lott, Miss Louise Augenstein, Mrs. Robert Rice, Mrs. Leo Groll, Mrs. Wilbert Rengert, Mrs. Harold Bracy and Mrs. H. E. Click, mother of the hostess.

Seven new members were welcomed into the group when the Waldo Mother's Study club met recently at the home of Mrs. Paul Fogle near Waldo. The club's constitution was discussed, and Mrs. Marion McMahan and Mrs. Mildred Temple were appointed by the president, Mrs. Fogle, to serve on the sunshine committee. Mrs. Ray Denzer gave the program topic, "Sharing Home Responsibilities," and a discussion to open. The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Louise Dorsey.
